GIGANTIC AIR FLEET ATTACKS GERMANY

Gen. Clark under Fire on Visit to Troops at Front

Nazi Offensive Repulsed, Lost Area Regained

German Infantry Heavily Bombed

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 2 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, visiting the Allied beachhead below Rome today after a powerful two-day attack by three tank-led German divisions, brought out word tonight that the offensive had been repulsed, that ground lost to the enemy had been regained and that the beachhead situation was well in hand.

The Allies threw the Germans back with heavy casualties after they had penetrated for 1,500 yards—nearly a mile—into the heart of the Anzio beachhead defenses with the big offensive launched early Tuesday. The battle raged through Wednesday.

Clark Under Fire

Gen. Clark spent nearly all of today with his troops in the field, going far forward. In one instance a German shell hit the road harmlessly behind the general's party only thirty seconds after the officers wheeled by.

Upon his return to Fifth army headquarters Gen. Clark said he was convinced that Allied control of the bridgehead is now firmly established, and he was enthusiastic over the manner in which his men turned back the attacking foe and then re-won the lost ground.

He told British troops on the beachhead that he was confident the Allies could repel any attacks the Nazis might now launch, and he said the outcome of the battle Tuesday and Wednesday was a setback for the German army.

Bomb Nazi Troops

Amid a relative calm that followed two days and night of savage fighting, heavy American Liberators and Flying Fortresses swung over the battlefield today in clear weather and poured thousands of fragmentation bombs on concentrations of weary Nazi troops and on the enemy's gun positions ringing the beachhead.

The Germans struck this time with only about half the force they employed in their costly offensive down the Carroceto-Anzio highway two weeks ago. With Nazi infantry riding on the broad decks of sixty-ton "Tiger" tanks, Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen's forces jammed their way forward at dawn Tuesday along a 1,000-yard front in the center of the ten-mile stretch between Carroceto and Cisterna.

Before the American troops and their curtain of artillery fire succeeded in stemming the Nazi power drive, official reports indicated the enemy overran an important road junction and was shoving down a highway toward the village of Campo Morto, which is only seven miles from the vital Allied supply port of Nettuno. The American counterattack, launched at 7 p. m. Tuesday, regained the road junction.

A NATIVE WOMAN who had fled Kiev is shown here stroking the head of a loved one, killed by the Germans during their occupation of the Ukrainian capital. It was announced that at least 190,000 civilians of the city and area had been "tortured to death, shot or poisoned in murder vans" by the Nazis.

Finns Consider Red Peace Offer

No Indications Of Acceptance

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, Friday, March 3. (AP)—The Finnish newspaper Social Demokratti, mouthpiece of the Social Democratic party which is the strongest in Finland's Parliament, indicated today that the Finnish government intends to make every effort to negotiate an armistice with Russia.

STOCKHOLM, March 2 (AP)—The Finnish cabinet is giving the peace dilemma "major consideration," a Finnish foreign office spokesman said in Helsinki tonight, but there was no official indication that the government had reached a decision on whether to accept Moscow's terms.

Helsinki's afternoon press continued a line begun in the Finnish morning papers after a day's delay in comment, declaring that the Soviet terms were unacceptable.

No Visit to Moscow

The foreign office spokesman, asked for official comment, said there were "no new developments." He denied that a Finnish peace delegation was journeying to Moscow.

The Finnish afternoon newspaper Ilta Sanomat said the published terms were "not suitable as a basis for final negotiations" and added, "if Russia really wants peace with us it seems that these terms couldn't be final."

Svenska Pressen, which long has been favoring negotiations with Moscow, labeled the terms "frightening" and a "bad sign."

Fear Another War

The Liberal Huvudstadsbladet, the leading Swedish-language newspaper in Finland, said the terms "do not open those perspectives to peace we so eagerly wanted. Acceptance would expose ourselves to the risk of becoming involved in another war and transform our own territory into a war theater."

The Helsinki correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet reported that the Soviet terms fell on the Finnish people like a "cold shower." This correspondent said that even those Finnish circles opposed to the government's wait-and-see policy took the view that the Moscow conditions could not be accepted.

Negro Confesses Brutal Slaying

Cathedral Murder Mystery Solved

WASHINGTON, March 2. (AP)—Maj. Edward J. Kelly, chief of police, reported tonight that a negro handyman employed at Washington Cathedral had admitted fatally beating a woman librarian there.

The body of the victim, Miss Catherine Cooper Reardon, 37-year-old William and Mary College graduate, was found early today in the basement of the library, a scant 100 feet from the cathedral where Woodrow Wilson and other notables are interred. Her skull had been smashed.

Kelly said the suspect told police he killed Miss Reardon because she had reported him to the library custodian for failing to clean the dust from under her desk a few days ago.

No charge has been filed, Kelly said, pending further questioning.

Kelly said the suspect gave this version of the slaying:

He found Miss Reardon at her desk last night and slugged her on the head with a piece of firewood. She ran and he followed, striking her again and chocking her. Then he dragged the body into a steampipe pit in the library basement.

Stimson Places Attack on Rome Up to Germany

Only Course Open Is Used by Troops

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON, March 2. (AP)—War Secretary Stimson warned today that the Allies will have no alternative but to attack parts of Rome put to military use by the Germans.

At a press conference, he defined the Allied military policy as one of taking every possible precaution against the destruction of "cultural, historical and religious property" but of placing lives above material things.

Up to the Germans

"Should it become obvious, however, that the enemy is making use of such monuments for military purposes, and that the lives of American soldiers are thereby endangered, there can be no alternative," he said. "American lives must be safeguarded, whatever the cost in material things."

It was this policy, Stimson said, which dictated the Allied bombardment of the historic abbey of Monte Cassino. The Germans had turned it into a fortress.

The Germans now have no large concentrations of troops in Rome, so far as is known, but the rail lines to the city and its yards are used in supplying and reinforcing enemy troops in Southern Italy and about the Anzio beachhead.

Protect Vatican City

"For these reasons," Stimson explained, "bombing attacks have been concentrated on the rail lines leading in and out of Rome and on the railway yards of Rome itself, as well as on the suburban

Quadruplets Born To Unwed Friend Of U. S. Soldier

British Woman Hopes Yank Will Marry Her

By RUTH COWAN

HEANOR DERBYSHIRE, ENGLAND, March 2 (AP) — Nora Carpenter, frail attractive 23-year-old mother of quadruplets, rejoiced tonight that her babies were gaining weight and expressed hope that she and their father, identified by her as an American soldier, might marry "sometime in the future."

Mrs. Edith Mathews, superintendent of a nursing home to which the babies were taken Tuesday, said the father was Staff Sgt. William Thompson of the United States army.

Married in America

Miss Carpenter said the babies' father "was married about two years ago in America and they had no children."

She added, "I understand he has seen his commanding officer about the quads and I'm hoping arrangements will be made to enable us to get married some time in the future."

The father, who was present when the babies were born Monday and who helped to name them, has since rejoined his unit without being able to have another look at the two boys and two girls. His name has not yet been officially disclosed since the births have not been officially recorded and need not be for three months.

The mother declared, "everyone in Heanor knows I'm single and it would be foolish for me to pretend I'm not. I've never claimed to be married.

He's a "Fine Fellow"

"I met the American, who is a fine fellow, when I was in the ATS (Auxiliary Territorial Service)."

The friendly, brunet mother told me tonight just before she went to sleep that she was happy to learn that the eldest of her babies had gained two ounces and that the youngest and weakest was "doing all right now."

Nora's mother, Mrs. Ellen Carpenter, who is a munitions worker, expressed hope her daughter might be married "for the children's sake."

Admiralty Island Airfield Is Held

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Friday, March 3 (AP)—American dismounted calvarymen on the invaded Los Negroes island in the Admiralty group have been reinforced at Momote airfield, which the troops captured Tuesday and has been the scene of recent Japanese counterattacks.

Allied headquarters said the reinforcements were put on the island Thursday, and that work already had begun to put the airfield in condition for Allied use.

Will Complete Occupation

The reinforced invasion troops are preparing to complete the occupation of the entire island. Momote airdrome lies at the eastern tip of the island.

The calvarymen threw back a Japanese counterattack at Momote early Wednesday morning. It was the enemy's first concentrated opposition to the invasion and cost the Japanese about 100 dead.

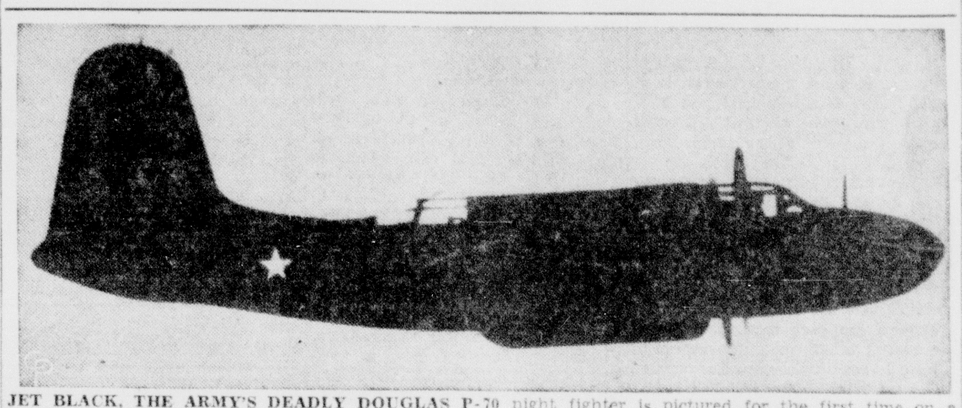

The Americans, though, were outnumbered in this action.

Buchalter Gets His Sixth Stay

Saved by Dewey Pending Appeal

ALBANY, N. Y., March (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey tonight gave Louis (Lepke) Buchalter and two "Murder, Inc." henchman a brief additional span of life pending a last ditch appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Seventy minutes before the gang-murder chieftain, Louis Capone and Emanuel Weiss were to have died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison for the 1936 slaying of Joseph Rosen, Brooklyn storekeeper, the governor ordered a sixth stay for the trio.

Dewey's Position

Dewey, through his counsel, Charles D. Breitel, said he had requested Correction Commissioner Jorn A. Lyons to postpone the executions of Buchalter, Weiss and Capone "until later in this week."

Breitel's statement added that "under the circumstances there is no need for a respite by the governor at this time."

Breitel explained that the new stay was granted after council for Buchalter advised him he had arranged to appeal to the United States Supreme Court at noon Saturday for a writ of certorari.

Big Scandal Hinted

The new lease of life for the 47-year-old gang overlord followed a report that he had made a statement implicating three nationally prominent persons.

Breitel declined to either affirm or deny such a statement had been made.

Breitel said a further stay would expire at midnight Saturday. It was indicated unofficially, however, that another stay might be granted if the United Etates Supreme Court did not act immediately on the Lepke application.

Democratic Party Flayed by Willkie

Falling to Pieces, Asserts Candidate

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie declared tonight that "the Democratic party is falling to pieces" and urged Republicans to achieve internal unity "because the opportunity is now ours to step into power in the national government."

"A new party in power with a new point of view is doubly necessary to the welfare of the country today," Willkie, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said in an address for delivery on the March of Time program over an NBC national hookup.

50 Billion Dollar Debt Increase Is Sought by Treasury

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The treasury may ask Congress soon to increase the national debt limitation by fifty billion dollars to cover the mounting deficit caused by war expenditures, legislative leaders heard today.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance committee predicted that an increase from the present limit of 210 billions to 260 billions would be sufficient to meet financing needs in the next year.

Treasury secretary Morgenthau has scheduled conferences with congressional fiscal leaders tomorrow.

Four Bombs Hit Vatican Grounds

Workman Killed, Priest Injured

LONDON, March 2 (AP)—A single unidentified plane, flying at a 600-yard altitude, dropped four bombs on extraterritorial ground of the Vatican in Rome last night and two others near the Holy City itself, killing a workman and injuring a priest, the Vatican radio said today.

Four of the bombs, said the broadcast which was recorded by the Associated Press, "fell on the Papal Propaganda College and two on Santa Monica, directly opposite Saint Peter's. One worker was killed and an Augustinian monk, a Dutchman, was injured. Fortunately there were no victims at the Propaganda College."

The Propaganda College is about 2,500 yards directly east of the Vatican.

The Fascist-controlled Rome radio said the bomb blasts "also caused damage to the interior of Vatican City. Many windows were broken and some dwelling houses were damaged."

The Rome radio quoted an article which it said appeared in Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano which declared that "once more the open violation of the Vatican must be lamented."

Vatican territory was last bombed Nov. 5. Berlin attempted to blame the attack on the Allies but Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared no Allied planes had been over Rome at the time of the attack.

No. 18 Shoe Stamp Expires April 30

WASHINGTON, March 2. (AP)—A new ration stamp will be good for a pair of shoes beginning May 1, but one of the two coupons now in use—No. 18 in ration book 1—will expire April 30.

The new valid stamp, which will be good indefinitely will be designed shortly before May 1, OPA said.

Today's action will leave two shoe stamps in use as at present, since airplane stamp No. 1 in ration book 3 is also good indefinitely.

Stamp 18 was validated last June 15 and only six per cent of the number issued remain in circulation, OPA said. It is the only valid coupon in ration book 1.

Secret Nazi Air Bases Discovered

LONDON, Friday, March 3 (AP)—Tass report said today that German engineers have been building secret air bases on the Spanish coast of the Bay of Biscay.

Three separate bases are often used by the Germans for raids in the Atlantic, Tass said.

30 Communities Freed by Reds

German Retreat Made Difficult

By TOM YARBROUGH

LONDON, March 3 (Friday) (AP)—Moscow announced tonight that the Red army captured thirty communities today in a drive toward Ostrov, thirty-five miles south of Pskov on the great trunk railway to Warsaw, while northward around the Estonian stronghold of Narva the Russians improved their bridgehead and flung the Germans from several strongpoints.

The drive upon Ostrov was a flanking attack by the Russians cutting south of the Nazi bastion and aiming at the second of three railways by which the Germans might retreat. The first was cut Wednesday when the Pskov-Idritsa-Polotsk line was crossed at several points.

Reds May Change Plans

Moscow dispatches said the Red army might not wait for mopping up operations in Pskov and Narva but instead might by-pass these towns and plunge ahead toward Reval and Riga, capitals of Estonia and Latvia.

The Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, made no mention of the fighting in the Vitebsk sector of White Russia where, yesterday it reported the capture of thirty localities, including four which were twelve miles north, eight miles east, six miles southeast and seven miles southwest of Vitebsk itself.

Dispatches from Russia, however, said the Vitebsk operations carried great power and the offensive was still to reach its climax. The Germans' first lines, protecting the almost surrounded city, were reported breached Wednesday.

Gains Near Paskov

The Communique indicated that major gains of the day were made in the Pskov fighting, especially to the south where on Wednesday they were nine miles east of Ostrov with the capture of Kashino.

Among the communities reported captured were Zamoshye and Rozhanka, eleven and twelve miles northeast of Ostrov and the rail stations Soshikhino and Sergino, fifteen and nineteen miles southeast of Ostrow on the Pskov-Idritsa line.

The Soviet midnight communique said guerrillas aided in the fighting in the area, killing 500 Germans and rescuing 9,000 Russian civilians and considerable livestock. Other Russian units killed 300 Germans and captured 250 carts with supplies.

In the narva fighting, the late bulletin said, 1,000 Germans were killed.

Fighters Join Big Bombers in Massed Assault

2,000 to 3,000 Planes in Action

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Friday, March 3 (AP) — R A F heavy bombers streamed out over the Southeast coast last night for their second successive night assault on German-held Europe.

LONDON, March 2 (AP) — A strong force of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators attacked industrial targets in Southwest Germany today with the help of possibly the largest armada of fighters ever dispatched from Britain, and another group of the heavy bombers blasted an airfield at Chartres, fifty miles southwest of Paris.

Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs along with Spitfires of the RAF escorted the bombers, presenting a formidable front which few German interceptors rose to challenge.

11 Bombers Missing

Eighteen German fighters were shot down by the Allied escort, while the bombers' toll was not immediately announced. From the day's operations eleven bombers and three fighters were missing, the American air command announced tonight.

The strong assault was the second phase of the one-two punch technique developed by the Allied air forces. Exact targets were not announced immediately, but the area was the same as that in which the RAF last night made a 600-bomber assault on Stuttgart with a record low loss of only four bombers.

Many Planes in Action

Counting cross-channel assaults during the day it was estimated that between 2,000 to 3,000 Allied planes of all types had been flown against German targets since the RAF set out for Stuttgart last night.

Clouds still covered Southwest Germany as they did last night, but the fires set by the RAF served as beacons for the Americans, and lack of visibility failed to shield the targets from the Allied overcast-bombing methods.

Returning American fliers said that, as on Tuesday's long trip to Brunswick, today's thrust failed to coax up the battered German fighter force, and anti-aircraft fire was their only hindrance.

Bombers Well Protected

The great force of escorting Allied fighters completely boxed in the bomber formations, so that some bomber crews said they made the whole round trip without seeing a single enemy plane.

"It was too peaceful over there today," said Staff Sgt. Charles Failla of the Bronx. "It was like going around Central Park on a bicycle."

Hundreds of short-ranged planes of the American and British tactical air forces raced back and forth across the English channel throughout the day.

Medium bomber Marauders and Typhoon fighter-bombers planted explosives on German foreward positions in Northern France in clear weather with no enemy fighter opposition. Only one Marauder was reported lost.

MIAMI, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today that he was "not interested" in forthcoming elections.

Arriving by Pan American clipper after a Bahamas fishing trip, he said he was "only interested now in the successful conclusion of the war."

Knox Gazes into Future:

Sees Fierce Fighting Just Ahead; Asserts Labor Draft Is Necessary

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — Predicting that most ferocious fightlies just ahead, Navy Secretary Knox endorsed the Austin-Wadsworth local draft bill today as the surest and fairest means of stabilizing employment in plants and shipyards that must feed the war machine.

"The present program for selective and controlled employment needs immediate tightening up," he told Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) and Senator Austin (R-Vt), the only members of the Military Affairs committee who appeared to receive his testimony.

Oppose Compulsory System

Austin is co-author of the pending bill; Reynolds and a large proportion of the other committee members oppose the compulsory system.

"But we face 1944; and output for 1944 must be even greater than for 1943. In 1944 we will be fighting

Allies Stop Lend Lease Shipments To Turkey To Force War Decision

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—American lend lease and British mutual aid shipments to Turkey were understood tonight to have been suspended in a move apparently linked with vigorous military and diplomatic preparations for the Anglo-American invasion of Europe.

The action, taken by the British with full Allied approval cut Turkey off, at least temporarily, from her sources of arms and other military supplies and confronts her with the necessity of deciding whether to go more deeply into the war on the United Nations side or continue a policy of neutrality, favorable to the Allies but in some respects helpful to Germany.

The middle eastern nation has a position of great strategic and political importance in relation to future European war developments. Her northern border flanks Bulgaria and any strong move on her part favorable to the Allies would undoubtedly hasten the end of Bulgaria as a German satellite and weaken the Nazi hold throughout the Balkans.

This in turn would felicitate the advance of Russian armies in the south by throwing the German's rear areas in turmoil. At the same time it would place additional strains on Germany at the very time Hitler is mustering his forces to meet the eventual Anglo-American assault from the west as well as the Russian drives.

Gassett Wants Congress To Ratify Treaties

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — Rep. Gossett (D-Tex) proposed today that the constitution be amended to permit ratification of treaties by a simple majority of both houses of Congress, instead of the present requirement of a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

A majority of Congress can declare war, Gossett said and he asked: "Why should not a majority of the Congress be able to declare peace?"

Argentine War Policy Favorable To Allies Pledged by Gen. Farrell

BUENOS AIRES, March 2 (AP)—Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, acting president of Argentina, declared today that Argentine foreign policy would not be modified and that close cooperation with the other American republics was an aim of his temporary regime.

In an interview at the government house General Farrell, who took over the executive power from President Gen. Pedro Ramirez a week ago in a bloodless coup, indicated he intended to prepare the country for elections in the shortest time possible, saying it was only the desire of Argentina's present military leaders that the people should not commit an error when the elections were held.

Clad in civilian clothing, General Farrell said, "I am occupying the presidency only temporarily, fulfilling a mission which I accepted six months ago when I was made vice president."

At the outset he emphatically rejected the idea that his government intended to change the country's foreign policy, which includes a recent rupture of relations with the Axis.

He said he intended to guide the country toward a restoration of constitutional normalcy.

Kirke L. Simpson Says:

Russian Armies on Baltic Flank Are on Verge of a Great Victory

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Racing against impending spring thaws, Red armies on the Russian Baltic flank are on the verge of a victory that will do more than rout the last Nazi invaders from Russian soil in the northwest.

They are within sight of wresting Estonia from Hitler's grip as the first German conquered country in Continental Europe to be freed of Nazi domination.

Germans Need Miracle

With both the Narva and Pskov gateways to Estonia and the Nazi base at Vitebsk virtually encircled by the Russians, only a miracle could prevent early collapse of the German front over a 400-mile span. The fall of any of them, particularly Pskov, must open the way for Russian incursions in both Estonia and Latvia that could convert Estonia into trap for Nazi forces cut off there.

It is questionable whether a German retreat from Estonia and Northern and Northeastern Latvia is not already in progress.

The Narova river, crossed by the Russians, was a strong defensive front. It is fringed with marshes on both sides. Yet the Russians drove through on a twenty-two-mile wide front to outflank Narva and all but cut its westward communications.

Nazis Evacuation Suspected

The implication is that only Nazi rear guards, posted to delay the Russian advance across the Narva isthmus, manned that front. If that is true, it must mean than Nazi evacuation of all Estonia has been ordered in anticipation of a Russian breakthrough at Pskov which could trap German forces north of the Pskov-Valk-Riga railroad and highway or the Pskov-Riga trunk line below it.

There have been significant reports from Moscow that German traffic on those routes has been west bound for several days.

There are even reports of Nazi execution of German generals who failed to stall off the Russian triple-pronged drive on Pskov. Red forces already have driven the Nazis from all Russia in the north except for a narrow wedge-shaped segment between the Latvia-Estonian borders and the Pskov-Polotsk railway with its apex at Pskov.

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today freed lard from rationing in March while the War Food Administration (WFA) allocated 50,000,000 pounds of lard to soap making during the month.

airfields, while every attempt has been made to spare religious and cultural shrines and to respect the neutral status of Vatican City."

In a general discussion of the war, Stimson described the recent heavy aerial assaults on Germany as "only the beginning" of the European air battle.

This battle, it has been made evident, is aimed at pre-invasion elimination of the Luftwaffe as an effective force and Stimson noted with satisfaction that missions by American and British planes in the last week "resulted in the most severe damage to enemy plane production." He said American planes alone shot down 640 German fighters and destroyed others on the ground.

As for the fighting about Anzio, Stimson commented that a two-day enemy attack in force has been repulsed but said "it is doubtful whether his full strength has yet been exerted."

Selectees To Report At Camp Meade

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP) — Marylanders called up for induction in the future will be sworn in at the recruit reception center at Fort George G. Meade instead of the Fifth Regiment armory in Baltimore, the Third Service Command announced today.

The transfer of the induction station from Baltimore to Fort Meade followed abolition of the old procedure, under which men were sworn in the day they took physical examinations.

Final examinations will still be given at the armory in Baltimore but the men will not be sworn in until they report at Fort Meade.

Capt. Hiawatha Yates, formerly of Altoona, Pa., induction station and Lt. Charles A. Quinlan, formerly of Baltimore, are in charge of the station.

mightier battles with heavier losses in every quarter of the world. This means more and more men, more and more equipment, more and more supplies and more and more ships."

Sweeping his arms wide to describe casualty lists "that long" already pouring into the states, the cabinet official said the resistance the Germans are putting up in Italy demonstrates the kind of battles that may be expected when the Allies' amphibious troops pound their gun butts on Hitler's European front door.

Asks All To Work

Knox said if people who are not fully employed would go to work where they are needed, and then would stay on the job, there would be no manpower problem.

"And that is precisely what a national service law would be expected to accomplish," he declared. "Our manpower problem has, all along, been especially hard to solve because of excessive switching from job to job."

Knox estimated that the nation faces a turnover rate of eighty per cent a year.

No Early Victory

The illusion of an early victory, caused by the collapse of Italy last summer, boosted the rate of job swapping, absenteeism and turnover in industry to new high levels, he said, asking the committee to judge how much more serious such manifestations would become when Germany is whipped.

"We could have a slump in production that might seriously imperil our fighting in the Pacific," he said. "Japan is hoping for just that sort of demoralization."

As for the argument that a national service law means "regimentation and slave labor," Knox said: "There is not one kind of responsibility which applies to a man sent to the battle front and another kind of responsibility which applies to the man who is building submarines or landing craft."

Soldiers Wish They Came from Dixie

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA (AP)—The army has ruled one per cent of certain southwest Pacific units with long front line duty may go home. One New Guinea outfit, comprising many southerners and fewer northerners, watched eagerly for the "homeward-bound" list.

When every one of the chosen few was from the land of Dixie, a northerner gathered his Yankee friends around him and sang raucously:

"Oh, I wish I had been born in the land of cotton,
"For the poor old Yanks have been forgotten, look away—"

Brazil Soldiers Get Half Civilian Pay

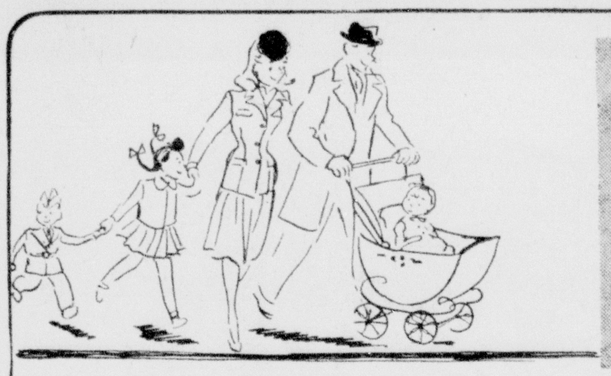

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The government has ruled that every Brazilian soldier—whether drafted or called up from the reserve—is entitled to fifty per cent of his civilian salary under a law decreed for draftees since the war emergency.

The ruling came following questions on the part of employers as to whether a reservist called up was entitled to the payment. Reserve service is compulsory as well as draft service.

PITTSBURG, Kas. (AP)—It was a severe test for any man's honesty when Earl Henney, standing on a corner, looked down and saw a thirty-five pound slab of bacon—140 meat points. He might easily have taken it home but instead he went to a nearby meat store and traced ownership of the package. Then he trotted home to a meatless lunch.

The Tide Continues Republicanward

THAT the Republican trend demonstrated in several congressional bye-elections of the last several months continues unabated has again been indicated by the special election held this week in the Twenty-first district of New York city. The Republican nominee, William S. Bennett, came within about 1,500 votes of equalling the total polled by the Democratic nominee, James H. Torrence.

This was a remarkable cut in the Democratic vote and represents a greater advance than was made in similar congressional elections held since last August in California, Kansas, New York, Pennsylvania and Kentucky. Since the era of New Deal pap and pillage, that is, from 1932 to 1942, the usual Democratic plurality in this old Tammany district ranged from 29,000 to 33,000, the average having been 38,974. In that period the Democratic vote was never less than two to one. It has been twenty-four years since the district elected a Republican.

This evidence of the continued trend Republicanward will give fresh heart not only to Republicans but to the growing list of anti-New Deal Democrats. It shows that even the hard-boiled Democrats are becoming disgusted with things as they are and that the political winds are definitely blowing toward the election of a Republican Congress and a Republican president at the general elections in November, which, in view of the miserable New Deal record, will be a blessing for the country.

No Other Course Than Keeping up the Pace

FIELD MARSHAL JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTS, the prime minister of South Africa, has warned that outside of defeat itself there could be no greater calamity than undue prolongation of the war. He said the war had now gone on so many years that it was natural for people to get tired and wish for a change, but he emphasized that failure to keep up the pace toward victory will prolong the agony.

The prime minister's advice to his own people, who have been in the war more than four years, is needed quite as much in America, which has been engaged in war little more than two years.

Unnecessary prolongation of the war means more casualties among American troops and also more casualties among the soldiers of the nation's Allies. Furthermore, millions of men, women and children are suffering in the occupied countries, awaiting the day of liberation from their conquerors. The longer the war lasts, the greater will be the suffering and the more numerous the deaths among those unfortunate victims.

No one would wish to be guilty in the slightest way of adding to the world's suffering. The way to avoid such guilt is to keep up the pace toward victory. There is no other course.

Bright Future Is Seen For Synthetic Rubber

ADDRESSING automotive engineers the other night at Akron, Dr. R. P. Dinsmore, vice president in charge of research and development for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, drew a promising picture of the synthetic rubber situation. The disaster which once faced America in the loss of its natural rubber, he declared, has been averted.

Dr. Dinsmore said the question most frequently asked the researchers is whether synthetic rubber will continue after the war. While uses for specialty synthetics will continue and probably increase, he said, the real question involves general-purpose rubbers and as to that he indicated the outlook excellent.

"It is quite possible," Dr. Dinsmore said, "that synthetic may be able to hold its own without any protective tariff or subsidy. However, the plants are owned by the government and might be kept idle. On the point of quality of synthetic as compared with natural rubber, I believe that the research interest, now aroused in this problem, will certainly solve it sooner or later. There is a very good chance that a solution will be available before any large quantity of crude rubber is again being received."

As to the relative cost of synthetic rubber as compared to crude, it was stated that the matter of costs depends upon the type finally chosen but that the present type "has an excellent chance to meet competitive costs of crude rubber when postwar conditions once again make it possible to adopt the most economical processes for the constituent chemicals."

Many difficulties have had to be encountered in the development of synthetic rubber but the worst was bureaucracy. Lawrence Sullivan's book, "Bureaucracy Runs Amuck," notes that the only rubber crisis the United States ever experienced was "the crisis of many tongues articulating through seven different departmental mimeographs." Public pressure and the Truman committee and Baruch reports solved that through the enforced establishment, within thirty days, of a unified rubber program under the direction of William M. Jeffers, and before the year passed, ample synthetic rubber was in sight.

But, as Sullivan has pointed out, the seven part-time different rubber administrators and their seven publicity counsilors allowed seven precious wartime months to elapse without the turn of a wheel. That is another reminder of the need for scotching the overgrown, overlapping and costly bureaucracy which is still impeding the war effort and menacing American fundamentals.

The Home Front Is To Get Ammunition

THE MIRACLE of war production is redounding to the benefit of farmers and others concerned with wild life. In view of expected cutbacks in military orders, the War Production Board has announced that shells and cartridges for shotguns, rifles and other small arms will soon be made available for civilians. It also promises that when the hunting season opens in the fall the sale of needed ammunition will be virtually on a peacetime basis.

This is good news for farmers, especially, who have been unable by reason of the curtailment of this ammunition to combat successfully the four-footed and winged marauders which have been pilfering their crops. Besides helping to avert that damage, the farmers will be enabled to add to the food supply by killing rabbits, game birds, deer and the like when the seasons permit.

It is a good thing that wiser counsel of the conservationists has prevailed against the demand heard some time back that the game laws be suspended or widened for the sake of the meat shortage. Game has had a greater opportunity to multiply during the ammunition shortage and doubtless nature has taken its course. But just wait until those servicemen return with their newly-acquired skill in marksmanship, which they will be impelled to exercise whenever the occasion presents.

And Now Electronics For Railroad Safety

A SIXTY-SEVEN-MILE BRANCH of the Pennsylvania railroad running north from Trenton, N. J., is the scene of an important experiment in railroad communication.

On that branch the Pennsylvania has installed the first system of two-way electronic train telephones in railroad history. Equipment has been installed in locomotives, cabin cars and block signal stations. It permits continuous communication between trains and signal stations, between trains themselves, and between the head and rear of trains.

The purpose of the system is to enable crews of trains to keep in constant touch with traffic conditions affecting them, something not permitted by ordinary signal devices. If the Trenton experiment proves successful after a thorough trial, the Pennsylvania plans further installations on its lines. The company deserves commendation for taking a long step forward in promotion of increased railroad safety.

What makes solution of the shortage of chewing gum so baffling is realization that the industry cannot be helped by a salvage campaign.

Man with a Headache

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Well, what do you think of that? . . . Go to bed feeling fine, wake up with a bad headache. A terror, directly east of the right eye. What caused that, anyway? Why should a headache creep up on a fellow when he's sleeping like an innocent child? Dirty trick, I call it.

Marshall Maslin

Well, get up and go about your business. A man must be strong and uncomplaining, take the bitter with the sweet, the tail with the hide or whatever you call it. . . . Be philosophical, put up a bold and serene front. Quote that poet who shouted that he was the master of his fate, the Captain of his Soul. . . . Be a hero. . . . Very noble thoughts, indeed, but they don't stop the headache.

Get up, fellow, and exercise snappily, drink a glass of orange juice, swallow a pair of little white pills, tell the family you feel fine. . . . Liar! eat your breakfast and go to work.

But how's a man going to work when his poor head is splitting? . . . Well, there was Alexander Pope, that famous poet. He was a physical wreck all his life and look at all the great poetry he turned out. . . . Yes, look at the poetry! and a fine lot of double-distilled sarcasm and venom it was. . . . Well, how about Sir Arthur Sullivan, the man who wrote the music for "The Mikado" and "Pinafore" and "Pirates of Penzance"? He did all his loveliest work when he was sick, locked himself in a room and did his stuff. When he was well again he loafed, felt that healthy hours were too fine to waste on work. (And quarreled with his great collaborator Gilbert over the cost of a rug used in one of their productions and never spoke to him again!)

Well, what of HIM? . . . He was a genius but you're not claiming to other than an ordinary man with a headache.

Let it go. Skip it! You go your way and I'll go mine. What do you care whether I've a headache or not? I'm not asking for sympathy—who said I was? . . . See me grin—and bear it. . . . But you say I'm the picture of health? All right, all right! that's what they always say! . . . That's the credit a fellow gets for trying to be brave when he's suffering agonies. . . . That's a headache, that is!

Air Transport Has Excellent Outlook, Babson Believes

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 3—Management is facing a trying transition period. Involved are cancellations of orders, the rebuilding of physical equipment, questions concerning labor and raw materials and, in many cases, excessive wartime inventories. Companies which have been engaged 100 per cent in war work will have the greatest troubles. In most instances their difficulties will be reflected in coming earnings statements. Lower dividends from some of these companies may be in prospect. Companies with no reconversion problems should offer the best bet for the inventor. Such companies have no renegotiation bills and if they have suffered from the war will "come back" quicker than companies which have been wholly engaged in war work. The dividend outlook for such companies is naturally more favorable. I should like to comment on a few situations.

Roger W. Babson

Aviation Spotty

It is obvious that airplane manufacturers have too much plant capacity for peacetime operations. There are bound to be consolidations. Many plants will be obliged to close but, even so, competition will be terrific. However, a fair civilian market may exist. In time, with the development of new and safer types of planes for civilian use, manufacturers may again do a volume business. Certainly, however, the immediate postwar outlook is not good.

I am more bullish on air transport. Here also some consolidations may be inevitable, but further expansion of existing lines will come. Many new helicopter routes will be established by all sorts of corporations which heretofore have had nothing to do with the aviation industry. Most of these, due to inexperience, will pass out of the picture. Hundreds of pending applications for such routes may never even be granted. In hauling passengers, freight, express and mail, however, the air transport companies will certainly give the railroads a jolt.

Railroads Will Fight

It is logical to consider the oldest and greatest transportation system, namely, the railroads, along with our newest,—the airlines. My readers know how I feel about the railroads. I am not bullish on them for the long-pull. I further believe holders of many railroad securities should take advantage of current prices and get out of railroads. Traffic will decline sharply at the end of the war. The peak of railroad net earnings has passed.

However, in equipment, luxury and convenience of travel, the railroads, after the war, will take on a new lease of life. Crack trains, including streamliners which were so popular just prior to the war, may even be out-of-date in the postwar period. Equipment designers, artists and engineers have been busy redesigning passenger trains. Quite definitely the railroads will not take the competition of the airlines lying down. They will put up a good fight for business; but this fight will cost them a lot of money and benefit only the stockholders in rail equipment companies.

Household Products Important

The outlook for household products is, perhaps, most interesting to investors. A large deferred demand is apparent. Electrical appliances, radios and vacuum cleaners, floor coverings, furniture, heating and plumbing equipment face a period of expanding sales. Postwar sales of all consumers goods may be well above the prewar volume and compare favorably with sales during the war period. I continue bullish upon chain stores and other modern retail outlets. Prices of many stocks in this merchandise group are still reasonable in relation to future earnings and in view of inevitable inflation.

Automotive Reconversion

The entire automobile industry continues practically 100 per cent in war work. Cars and trucks are being used up fast although the production of these is now running larger than in 1943. Earnings should remain firm during 1944, but the industry faces great reconversion problems and high renegotiation bills. Return to peacetime operations will be relatively slow; also costly because of the ultimate need for new machinery and dies. Lower earnings are in prospect for some manufacturing units. The automobile accessories group, however, should come back rapidly.

State of Flux

Our entire manufacturing economy is most apt to be in a state of flux during the early part of the postwar era; but sales and distribution agencies will be reorganized rapidly. Orders will pile up quickly for transmission to manufacturers. Therefore, I am very bullish on distribution, advertising and general sales work. This, in turn, will help newspapers and magazines,—particularly the newspapers. These last have been charged with the task of freely disseminating much Government information. They have been greatly handicapped by both newsprint and labor scarcities. Despite many obstacles they have done a thorough-going, workmanlike job. I believe the entire newspaper business is a good postwar bet and faces a period of further expansion.

"FALL GUY"

LATEST "VICTIM" of the Circus Saints and Sinners Club is Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the War Shipping Administration. The induction took place in New York city, where, attired in a comic opera admiral's uniform, he was subjected to a good-natured lampooning. Maybe the admiral can use that pitchfork to rout out the Jap navy.

Unified Mid-Pacific Strategy Indicates Plan To Strike at Northern Philippines

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The strategy of the navy has met up with the strategy of Gen. MacArthur in the South Pacific and the seizure of the Admiralty islands prepares the way for the ultimate recapture of the Philippines sometimes in the year 1945.

David Lawrence

The little islands which have been taken by forces in the South Pacific contain airfields that dominate the approaches to the Netherlands East Indies as well as the Philippines.

Our naval and land forces now have flanked the Japanese on almost every sector of the ocean in the South Pacific. Every important channel between islands is dominated by our navy. The truth is that the capture of the Admiralty islands is in itself of perhaps more importance in the long run than the raids on Truk or the Marianas—important though these attacks are, of course, in the forcing of the Japanese fleet back to home waters.

Far-Reaching Effects

For immediate purposes the conquest of the Solomons islands, including Bougainville under Adm. Halsey and the relentless advance of our armed forces in New Guinea under Gen. MacArthur, may have some far-reaching effects on Japanese strategy. The Japanese may have to make up their minds whether they will send a fleet to defend the bases on the western end of New Guinea or whether they will fight merely a delaying action.

Our air supremacy in the South Pacific both from the decks of carriers and land-based planes has prevented the Japanese from sending surface vessels of any size to reinforce their garrisons and most of the latter are being left to starve. Our surface patrols have done effective work in sinking small barges and cargo ships.

Land-Based Bombing Bettered

A glance at the map will show that from the Admiralty islands we can fly land-based bombers over a wide arc—northward toward Truk and eastward toward positions on New Britain and New Ireland still held by the Japanese. We can fly land-based planes, too, toward Madang and Wewak and the bases along the northern coast of New Guinea.

Presently we will open up a supply line which will be virtually an inland waterway between Hawaii and the north coast of New Guinea and eventually the Philippines. Our transports carrying troops and supplies will be able to travel in ever-increasing numbers toward the Philippines where we must some day concentrate. The present line of approach would seem to be heading toward the southernmost islands of the Philippines.

Objective Swung to North

Coincidentally, the mid-Pacific operations of our navy will be heading some day for the northernmost group of the Philippines. All this takes months and months of preparation and organization. Gen. MacArthur's idea all along has been to approach the Philippines from the south but the counsel of naval strategists, who were better versed in the problems of naval warfare in the Pacific than the general, prevailed. It was deemed wiser to make sure of the Solomons and safeguard the supply line to the Solomons and then strike straight across the mid-Pacific to the Gilberts and the Marshalls in a bold attempt to render valuless the Japanese holdings in the Truk and the Caroline islands as well as in Guam and the Mariana islands.

Whatever impatience there may have been at MacArthur headquarters last year, there is no doubt now that the navy viewpoint and that of Gen. MacArthur has merged at last. The seizure of the Admiralty islands is like effecting a junction between the two strategists or rather the two approaches.

Views Long United

The United States chiefs of staffs have all along been united in their view—the army and the navy and the air forces—as to just how the Pacific war should be fought and there is no doubt that if Gen. MacArthur had been in Washington all along and been a member of the chiefs of staffs he would have concurred. Indeed, after the main lines of strategy were fully developed, Gen. Marshall went to the South Pacific and filled in Gen. MacArthur on the details of what has since been consummated. It is a splendid example of unity of plan and command.

Thus, while Gen. MacArthur personally witnessed the seizure of the Admiralty islands and the communique was issued in his name, it was, after all, a naval operation—a sequel to the navy's carefully developed strategy of the last two years. There will be many more sequels as the public begins to preceive that the United States Navy knows not only how to use sea power, which means air and submarine strength, too, but also how to protect our landing forces and keep them supplied with munitions and food many thousands of miles from the homeland.

Maryland Farm Musings

By the Extension Service of the University of Maryland

Production of food from the victory garden is not its only value. Victory gardens save transportation, save containers, save manpower in many ways, all of which are critical. The fact that we now have an adequate supply of most processed vegetables is due very largely to victory garden production.

Maryland 4-H Clubs, along with those of other states, will hold their annual Mobilization week from March 4 to 12. Old and new members will be enrolled for 1944. Members of 4-H Clubs are putting major emphasis, for the duration, on all activities that will help bring victory.

Soils deficient in lime will respond to fertilizer treatment more efficiently when limed either before or at the time of fertilizing. It is generally better to lime pastures six months or a year before fertilizing when the soil is very acid.

More vegetables can be produced on 100 square feet of garden soil given good care than on several hundred square feet if neglected. Extra space will not take the place of good care.

Securing plenty of chicks to provide for rigid culling is very important, but over-crowding the brooder houses is to be avoided.

The average family produces about 302 pounds of table scraps annually. Fully three-fourths of these scraps make excellent chicken feed.

Allies Are Checked In Drive for Rome By Lack of Men

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Allied army on the Anzio beachhead has had overwhelming air superiority. It also has enjoyed a somewhat greater strength than the Nazis in artillery and tanks. But the trouble has been a defficiency in number of fighting men.

Paul Mallon

The Nazis recently called in some reserves from Yugoslavia and also from Southern France. The most recent check (since their third major drive started) indicates they have marshalled eighteen or nineteen divisions, upwards of 370,000 men, south of Rome on all fronts.

While the size of our force naturally has not been publicly indicated, it is evidently inferior. This is shown by the fact that it has not been able to maintain the initiative.

This condition forecast an indefinite hard struggle for Rome, with no one here making any definite predictions. The final outcome of victory should be assured as long as our mechanical superiority continues—and it should continue.

German Reserves Closer

But initiative may remain in German hands at the beachhead until our army there is made numerically stronger than the opposing German force.

The mechanically inferior Germans are able to call upon reserves from all the nearby occupied territory in Europe and maintain direct supplies of material from those points and the homeland.

We must get ours from across the seas on lines hundreds of times as long. Therefore, we cannot act swiftly.

However, the Nazis now seemed to have used at long last their major Italian army. Until these recent actions, it had been held in Northern Italy in front of the Po river and along the Apennine line.

The Nazi introduction of automaton tanks was no great surprise. For some months, the Germans have been using radio directed glider torpedoes. These have wings and their direction is controlled by airplanes flying above them.

The same principal was applied to these new secret weapon tanks which are even easier to block as they are clumsier to direct, must have a special field for operations and are subject to destruction by artillery hits.

New Type of Fighting

The winter campaign is now nearing an end in Russia. Spring is already opening on the southern front, which means a new type of fight if not a new campaign. The important question is whether the Nazis have enough power to start a general counter offensive or a decisive movement to break up Russian progress.

My guess is the Nazis have been required to use up most of the reserves of men and material they were saving for the spring, in order to save themselves from annihilation in these recent red winter drives. The terrific bombings of factories also should have made any great German counter-offensive impossible.

Another Push Possible

On the other hand, the Russians now are in a position, especially in the South, to force another decisive German retreat. The Germans have held especially well their vital railline of communications from Odessa into Poland, which is the backbone of that front. If that line can now be broken, the Germans will have to base back to Rumania.

Northern Red drives have amassed valuable new railway networks and accumulated great areas of territory reaching now within 300 miles of the old German Polish border.

Thus, while the Nazis have saved themselves from annihilation during the winter (and this may seem disappointing to some military observers) they have so weakened the Nazi power that the battle has now become a question of how long they can endure the wearisome, deteriorating struggle.

A Victory Celebration

From the Altoona, Pa., Tribune

Premier Stalin orders salvos of hundreds of guns fired to mark each great Russian victory. We should think the Russians would have enough shooting so that they'd think of some other way to celebrate.

Republican Congressmen Scott, of Pennsylvania, suggests an idea along this line, but with an important variation . . .

"Let's fire a salvo of bureaucrats for each American military victory," says Congressman Scott. "The Russians symbolize their victories by firing a couple of hundred guns in Moscow. Would it not be a good idea to celebrate the next United States victory by firing a couple of hundred bureaucrats in Washington?"

"This would not only save money but ammunition," he adds. "Of course, not every Muscovite gets a chance to fire a big gun, but every American will, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November."

Factographs

Food produced in America's victory gardens in 1943 amounted to two billion pounds more than the total relief food sent to Europe after World War I.

Approximately one million more babies were born in 1943 than in 1933, bottom year of the depression.

It Pays To Be A Casualty

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN TENNESOEE (AP) — Cpl. George Koris, Uniontown, Pa., was ruled a "casualty" by the maneuvers umpire who said he had a broken leg, shattered collar bone and internal injuries.

Koris was processed through a first aid station.

"Who should set my 'broken' bones but a Joe who used to sleep next to me," he said. "He paid me $7 he owed me."

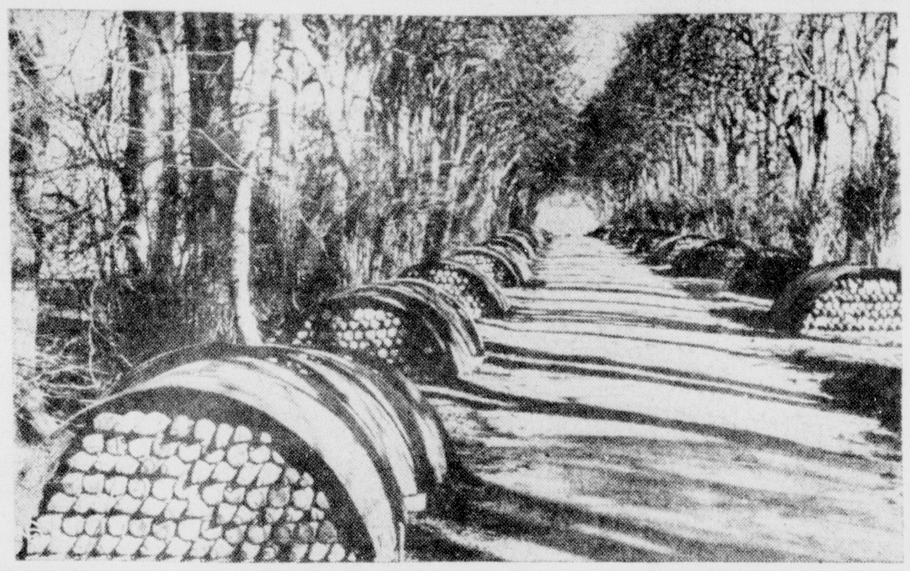

Blows Bugle In Rag Time

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN TENNESSEE (AP) — Pfc. Frank Amaral, a former trumpeter in a dance orchestra, was asked to blow reveille one morning in the absence of the regular bugler.

He started off properly enough but after the first notes startled soldiers and indignant commanders rolled out of pup tents to the tune of "Stompin' at the Ritz."

The traffic death toll in the United States in 1943 was about 23,000.

Mars Invades Peace of English Lane

WHAT WAS ONCE a quiet country road in England takes on this warlike appearance as every section of the country is utilized for the storage of supplies that will be used in the invasion of Nazi Europe. Strung along this road and under temporary shelters are thousands of 155 mm. projectiles.

Sales Talk Comes Home

WICHITA, Kas. (AP)—The enthusiastic Boy Scout war bond salesman, calling house-to-house, learned that the fellow to whom he had just sold a bond was Harold H. Baker, chief Scout executive of Wichita.

"Oh, gee, chief," said the youngster, "I'm sure glad to meetcha. I got your instructions on how to sell war bonds!"

Social Security statistics show that two-thirds of Chicagoans at 65 are dependents.

LaVale Firemen Hold Eleventh Annual Banquet

Harris Speaks on Juvenile Delinquency; Gunter Is Toastmaster

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, and principal speaker at the eleventh annual banquet of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, touched briefly on the problem of juvenile delinquency and congratulated the company for sponsoring the Boy Scouts in LaVale. He stressed the fact that Volunteer Fire companies are indispensable in reviewing the history of fire-fighting equipment from the very first type to the most modern and reviewed the most disastrous fires in the last 400 years.

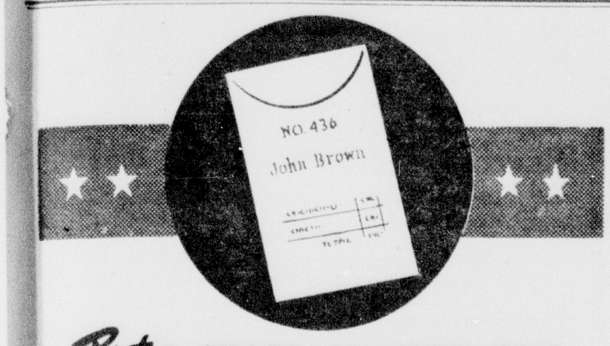

He congratulated the people of LaVale on their public spirit touching briefly on the organization of the company in 1933, pointing out that in 1939 a $10,000 fire house was built; a $5,000 modern fire-engine was purchased in 1940 and at present owe only $3,000.

Alvin G. Youngblood, president, introduced William A. Gunter, toastmaster, who in his opening remarks reviewed the progress of the company and dwelt on the letter league, reading sketches from letters from the boys to the league. He emphasized that the twenty-three members of the company are now serving in the armed forces.

William Weigan offered the invocation and conducted the memorial service for G. W. Lancaster, J. E. Lefferty, D. P. Miller, Russell Proud, R. J. Ritchie, Earl Lewis, J. George Smith and L. S. Preston, honorary member.

Routine reports were given by Cromwell C. Zembower, and Walter Alexander. Short talks were made by the officers, Mr. Youngblood, president; John C. German, vice-president; Mr. Zembower, recording secretary; Elmer C. Lancaster, financial secretary; Walter E. Alexander, treasurer; the three trustees, James W. Beecham, Mr. Weigan and Harry B. Klosterman; Robert Klosterman, chief; Elmer Beechley, assistant chief and Edward Dressman, sergeant at arms.

The entertainment program included music by the Ferrone trio, with Leonard playing the accordion; Rose Marie, the bass viol; and Delores, the marimba. They also accompanied the group for the singing of "God Bless America." John Sprow performed tricks of magic.

Orange Coffee Cake—Meltingly Tender—So Easy to Make

Here's a recipe that's so easy on points, you can treat your family often.

Sift together 2 cups of flour (sift flour once before measuring), 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, and ½ cup sugar. Grate the outermost yellow from the rind of 1 orange and add 1 tablespoon of it to the flour mixture. Add ¼ cup Star Lard and cut in as for biscuits. (You'll find Star Lard mixes faster and easier because it's texturated—an exclusive Armour process that improves Star Lard. Star Lard is easier to measure, too, because it comes in the self-measuring carton. Just cut along dotted lines to get ¼ cup—this saves waste and mess!)

Beat 1 Cloverbloom egg. Add juice of 1 orange mixed with enough water to make ½ cup. Add to flour, mixing just enough to moisten the flour. Spread in oiled 9 or 10 inch layer cake pan. Brush top with melted butter and sprinkle with mixture of 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon or allspice and 1 teaspoon orange rind. Bake at 400° F. for 20 to 30 minutes. Cut and serve hot or cold.

AMERICA'S "MELTING POT" WORKS BOTH WAYS; NEXT BIG TASK—TO HELP REBUILD OLD EUROPE

By GEORGE ROBOZ
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK—Every school child knows the story of the "Melting Pot."

America was settled and built to her present gigantic nature by immigrants who came to the New World from every country on earth to find freedom from oppression of tyrannical rulers and equality of opportunity for themselves and their children.

Englishmen from the Thames and the Midlands, Irishmen from County Cork, Norwegians and Swedes, Germans from the Elbe and the Rhine, Poles from Warsaw and the Vistula, North Slavs from Czechoslovakia and South Slavs from Yugoslavia, Italians from sunny Sicily, Hungarians from banks of the Danube, Russians, Greeks, Finns, Croats, Rumanians and Hollanders through the years have all met, melted and blended with each other in the American "Melting Pot" to build our culture and civilization, each contributing his bit to the final synthesis.

It is not our purpose here to list the contribution of each national group to the sum total of the American way of life. Space would prevent any such numeration, varied and diversified as they have been.

Hitler Guessed Wrong

They are all Americans today; each has taken to the American way, to the American spirit. However, all national groups share one thing in common besides their Americanism: A continued interest in their native countries and a share in its historic fortunes.

Hitler thought that because the United States was a "melting pot" nation it could be made incapable of united action. He thought he could turn Americans of English origin against Americans of Irish extraction, Czechs against Rumanians, Croats against Yugoslaves, Greeks against Italians to create disunity to cripple our war effort. How miserably he failed is evident in the headlines.

He failed to realize how well the "melting pot" had worked. He overlooked the fact that Americans of foreign origin have forgotten their Old World antagonisms while retaining their Old World interests.

He shoud have looked at the statistics. Whereas, in 1910, one out of every six Americans was born abroad, the ratio had fallen to one out of 11 in 1940. The steady ebb in the tide of immigration has hastened the "melting pot" process, too.

Immigration to the United States reached its peak in the decade from 1901 to 1910 when 8,795,396 immigrants arrived. Each decade thereafter the figure has fallen off, so that from 1931 to 1940, only 528,431 immigrants came to the United States.

But one thing Hitler succeeded in doing. His wanton aggression and cruelties have intensified the interest which second and evn third generation Americans bear toward the countries of their origin. And the political and territorial structure of postwar Europe will be shaped by that heightened interest.

The miseries let loose on Europe by the Kaiser in the first World war had the same effect.

Money from America

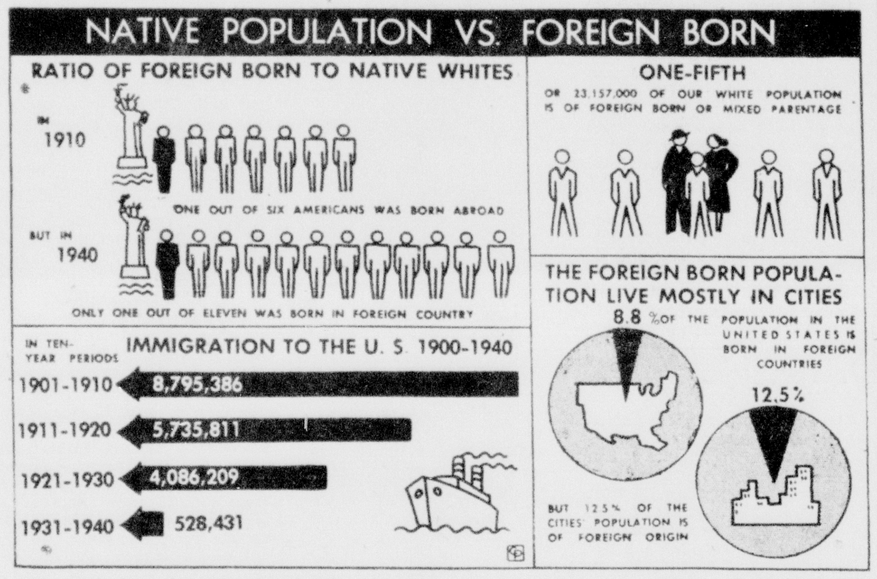

The national aspirations of the Serbs, Croats, Czecholovaks and Poles in Europe were financed by Americans of Slavic descent from New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Akron, Youngstown, Chicago and the mining regions.

Thomas Masaryk returned home from the United States to become the first president of Czechoslovakia. Men who had been professors, doctors or lawyers in this country returned to the Baltic States—to Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia—to become presidents or cabinet ministers.

For many of Europe's nationalities the story of the early Irish immigrants in the United States and their passionate interest in the nationalist cause in Ireland is typical. Irish-Americans contributed money to every independence movement from the early Fenians to President de Valera's Sinn Fein. In 1935, the Dublin government, in making first payment, revealed that Irish-Americans had given $6,000,000 to the cause of the Sinn Fein in 1923.

The same holds true today. While sons fight in the Army of the United States, Americans of foreign origins are financially and spiritually fanning the flames of resistance to Hitler's New Order from Norway to the southernmost tip of Greece, from Holland and Belgium to Poland. And after the war—as it did in World War I—America will share in the shaping of Europe.

The "Melting Pot" is a two-way thing. It has built America and will help rebuild Europe.

TO TOJO: THE CARRIERS ARE COMING!

Nothing Can Stop Our Flattops in Pacific, Writes Vice Admiral

By VICE ADMIRAL JOHN S. McCAIN
Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air
Distributed by Central Press Association

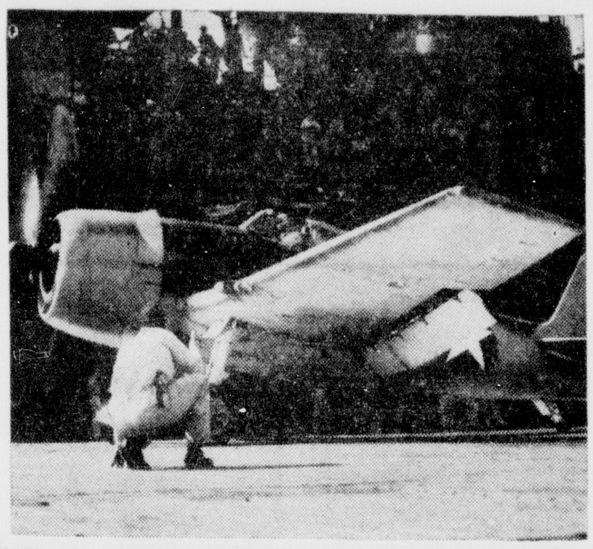

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Our carrier offensibe in the Pacific has started. Nothing can stop it.

In recent weeks, our carrier planes have flown on slashing raids into the heart of Jap-held territory, knocking out enemy ships and aircraft.

These raids are a fair omen of important developments to come. Added together, the sum of future operations will represent a steady and deadly weakening of Japanese forces available to oppose our unfaltering march toward the enemy homeland.

Much of our continuing attack develops upon our air power. It has been announced that we now have more than 40 aircraft carriers of various types. None of these will be idle as we press toward the west.

These carriers will not bear the full burden of our air offensive. They represent only a fraction of the coming few months we should approximately double our carrier strength.

TAKE-OFF—A Grumman Hellcat rolls along the flight deck for take-off

Bear in mind the carrier is primarily a highly mobile airstrip. But it is more. It is a hangar, a gasoline dump, an ammunition supply ship and a machine shop. It carries little or no armor; its underwater compartmentation is good; it moves forward at high speed; it boasts excellent anti-aircraft batteries. Yet its best protection stems from its own fighting planes.

Essex Class Formidable

Take the Essex class, for example. The speed of these carriers is more than thirty knots. These ships have a long steaming radius, and they carry gas and bombs sufficient for several operations.

Complements of planes vary. Usually nearly 100 are carried, divided between fighters, dive bombers and torpedo bombers, the last named being the fewest in number. However, what the torpedo bombers lack in numbers, they make up for in "punch."

Our later model carrier fighters, the Vought Corsair and Grumman Hellcat, are powerful planes. Either type is better than any plane, land or ship-based, the Japanese have shown so far. They are speedy, and with belly tanks can strike well beyond the 200 miles to which our fighters were limited at the war's start.

The new Curtis Helldiver, a dive bomber with belly tanks, can go with the fighter.

The Grumman Avenger, a torpedo or dive bombing plane, cannot strike quite so far but has sufficient speed to accompany its fighter escort.

The ship's complement of planes is trained as a unit, to strike in a co-ordinated and synchronized attack under fighter protection.

In one blow a carrier, depending on the makeup of its plane squadrons, can deliver anywhere from up to a score of torpedoes or around forty tons of bombs, depending on loading and range, or a similar number of even heavier bombs if the planes are operating at reduced range.

Against shipping this is a truly formidable and devastating striking force.

What Ten Could Do

The planes from ten carriers can deliver in one attack approximately 400 tons of bombs plus scores of torpedoes.

This is getting into the "big league" class.

When handling planes the carrier is headed into the wind. Added to the actual wind is sufficient speed from the ship to create a comparative wind over the deck of some twent-six to thirty-six knots.

The launching interval is a matter of seconds per plane. Thus, it will take less than a half-hour to put the entire group into the air. The landing or recovery takes a little longer for each plane, but all a carrier's planes can be recovered in less than an hour. Rearming is very rapid. In fact, most of the rearming has been completed when the last plane is landed.

CUT—Officer signals pilot to land.

The carrier's range, speed and mobility, plus its powerful striking group of planes, make it a strategical weapon of first importance, the possibilities of which have not been fully explored.

During hours of darkness this carrier can run in around 360 miles; can launch planes on a strike of several hundred miles, thereby covering more than 600 sea miles in a single night.

It is apparent that the strategical power of a carrier is limited only by numbers. With a sufficient number of carriers—that is, a number sufficient to carry enough fighters for protection of the force plus planes for a strike—these ships can practically move at will to any location with respect to the enemy.

The island warfare in the Pacific is particularly attractive to carrier strategists considering the islands and atolls as anchored carriers. Planes can land either on carriers or atolls, giving extraordinary flexibility and elasticity.

Thus, with sufficient fighter protection, which in turn is dependent on a sufficient number of carriers, carrier task forces sufficiently strong can go at will in or out of enemy waters.

The full strategic possibilities of the carrier have not yet been fully developed, but plans for such full use are under study and will be put into effect when and if there are a sufficient number of carriers on hand.

One of our major problems is to develop tactics for handling large numbers of carriers in the smallest possible water area.

Handling planes while the ship is moving at thirty knots, taking up to one-half hour for launching and even more time for recovery, and therefore covering ten to fifteen miles for launching and double that for recovery means a great deal of water will be covered, giving rise to tactical difficulties which must be solved.

Carrier-based planes must provide maximum fighter protection for the task force, from the maximum number of carriers operating in the smallest water area.

As I pointed out earlier, our carrier offensive in the Pacific has started. It must proceed with increasing tempo and increasing power and increasing fury until we have destroyed all the potentialities of our enemy. He is reeling now. We must strike him harder, strike him faster, and this in turn is dependent upon rapidly rising and uninterrupted production throughout this country.

Sawdust Fed to Furnaces

SAWDUSTING A FURNACE: Just fill the hopper and go upstairs to enjoy the heat. And sometimes there won't be any ashes for four weeks.

AP Features

FARMINGTON, Me.—Used for years as house-banking material to keep the cold from getting into Maine farm homes, ordinary sawdust now has been ushered inside as a wartime furnace fuel to drive the cold from many households and business establishments in this sector.

Hundreds of tons have been scooped from high piles deposited by sawmills and shoveled into stoker-type furnaces to keep nearly 200 homes and other buildings warm this winter.

"And the cost," said Theodore R. Hodgkins, head of the Foster woodworking plant in nearby Strong, "is less than half what it costs for oil. There are no coal mines or oil wells in Maine."

While the burning of sawdust as fuel is a new venture in Maine, the idea originated in Oregon, a large lumbering state.

The sawdust burning equipment can be attached to any furnace not designed for exclusive use of oil.

There is such a small amount of ash that it is only necessary to clean the pit from once a week to once in four weeks.

Never Too Old To Work

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Oldest member of the local Christo Redentor shelter for destitute homeless, and perhaps oldest resident of Rio is Maria de Conceicao, former African slave who claims 122 summers and winters. Maria recently told Police Chief Coronel Nelson de Melo, that she was brought to Brazil during the reign of Emperor Don Pedro II and that she was "still strong enough to work."

Motor Pool in Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Faced with a gasoline shortage which threatens further to curtail taxi service, city officials have moved to create regional motor pools for Rio physicians needing transportation in pressing emergencies. Under the new plan the city will place a number of cars at the disposal of the syndicate of doctors with special gasoline ration authority from the National Council of Petroleum.

Army To Expand Special Training For 17-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The army said tonight that it contemplates "broad expansion" of its specialized training reserve program for men in the pre-induction, 17-year old group.

This group was not affected by the recent decision to cut drastically the size of the army specialized training program and to put the great majority of men into active service to make up deficiencies in total army strength.

The War department did not elaborate on its statement that the reserve training program would be expanded, but said that details would be announced "soon."

Race Problem Solved In City of Baltimore

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—The Urban League declared today that Baltimore successfully coped with serious race problems during 1943 and declared that "just how near we have been to serious outbreaks in the community, some of us will never know."

In a report issued just prior to its annual dinner, the league asserted that the race problems in Baltimore were almost identical with those which caused riots in Detroit and other cities.

Employment problems, inferior housing and recreation needs were cited as the chief factors in Baltimore's grave situation, the league recounted, fixing the negro population of the city at twenty per cent of the total.

"Because it is torn by disunity, the party now in power cannot give this nation a strong and effective government," he said. "The Democratic party is falling to pieces.

"Its Congressional leaders and its executive leader are becoming involved in deeply disturbing disputes; its executive department is becoming increasingly petty and arrogant in its relationship to Congress; the antagonistic social, economic and political groups that compose it have begun to war among themselves; the chief executive has lost his power to hold them together, to direct them, and to produce within the Democratic party a concerted and unified effort toward winning the war or planning for the peace.

"Of course, he and other factional leaders of the Democratic party will have to try to make it appear to the American people that there is unity, and effective cooperation within the party, if they expect to be re-elected."

Story of $50,000,000 Fund To Defeat FDR Blamed to British UP

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Director Elmer Davis of the Office of War Information today said the British United Press was the news agency which sent abroad a story that a $50,000,000 fund was being raised in the United States to defeat President Roosevelt for reelection to a fourth term.

Davis identified the agency in a letter to Senator Byrd (D-Va), who had characterized the story as "obvious propaganda." The story, which Davis said was sent from the United States and first printed in English newspapers, later was picked up and reproduced in a news pamphlet distributed to American troops arriving in England.

The OWI previously said that was done by a local editor without the knowledge of the British Ministry of Information, and that its reproduction was a "mistake" in judgment on the part of the editor.

Draft Finally Gets "Cruel" Husband

CHICAGO, March 2 (AP) — The story can be set down in steps this way.

3. Last Oct. 19 the draft board ordered Frank to report for induction, but Frank brought up the matter of the court order.
4. A few days ago the draft board sent a letter on the subject to Judge Sbarbaro.
5. Today the jurist summoned the Hemmers, awarded Sophie a divorce, and dissolved Frank's stay-at-home restriction.

Five Crewmen Killed In Train Wreck

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Five crewmen died in the collision of two Chesapeake and Ohio freight trains near Sideburn, Va., today—four instantly and the fifth, after rescue workers had freed him, screaming in agony, from the twisted wreckage of a locomotive.

The dead were identified at Groff Funeral home, Fairfax, Va., and Henry Morris, R. S. Wright, Emmett C. Jameson, E. Howell and William R. Turner, all of Charlottesville, Va.

The crash occurred when a northbound freight ploughed into the rear of another freight which had been stopped by a block signal at the way station south of Washington.

Wreckage was strewn over the double-tracks of the southern railway system, delaying north and southbound trains. The C. and O. uses the Southern's main line for connections with routes to the south and west.

G. I. ART SHOW

UNITED STATES AIRMEN were well represented at the recent first American Services Art Show held in London. One of the attractions that caught the eye of many visitors was the above sketch of an American girl drawn by Cpl. Alfred J. Anastasi, of Boston, Mass.

It is estimated that approximately $3 billion a year for five years will be required after the war for highway repairs, construction and extension.

There are four types of planes aboard a carrier: fighters, bombers, scouts, and torpedo planes.

Libby To Get $300,000 From Son's Estate

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—Mrs. Libby Holman Holmes, one-time Broadway torch singer, was authorized by court order today to be reimbursed for $300,000 of the $435,183 she had paid for a home for her 11-year-old son, Christopher Smith Reynolds.

Orphans' court judges who signed the order specified that the sum be held in trust so that within two years after the boy reaches his majority he might choose between keeping the property or receiving the money.

The action was taken on a petition for funds from guardianship assets filed by the Safe Deposit and Trust Company, trustee for the boy's estate. The child is the son of the late Zachary Smith Reynolds, heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco fortune.

Vice-President W. R. Hubner told the court that the home, built seven years ago on a fifty-five-acre tract near Stamford, Conn., was constructed especially for the boy.

Victory Tax Payments Deductible in State

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—Although federal income tax payments are not allowable deductions on Maryland income tax returns, victory tax payments are deductible, Chief Deputy Joseph O'C. McCusker of the state's comptrollers office said today.

"We do allow victory tax payments as a deduction but it would be extremely poor business for the state of Maryland to permit federal income payments to be claimed as deductions in the computation of state returns," the chief deputy said.

ing reporters who descended on this tiny Derbyshire village.

"It is quite a shock to become a grandmother of seven in such short order," she exclaimed, explaining that she already had three other grandchildren.

The elder Carpenters live in a combination store building and residence, the store section being vacant.

Mrs. Carpenter and her husband, Harry, a former miner, had six children of their own, of whom Nora is the fifth. A son, Albert, died in a Bremen prison camp at the age of 28. Another, Raymond, 26, has been posted as missing in the merchant service.

Sergeant's Wife Is Found in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 2 (AP)—The Pittsburgh wife of Staff Sgt. William Thompson, identified by an English nursing home superintendent as the father of quadruplets born to an unwed girl in Heanor, Derbyshire, was in seclusion today.

Mrs. Mary Jenemann, mother of Mrs. Thompson, said the family had "no definite proof" that Sgt. Thompson is the quads' father. She explained:

"When Eleanor (the 25-year-old beautician whom Thompson married here in 1942) came home from work where she was called by a New York paper, she was hysterical. She has been crying ever since.

"She is suffering from a terrible shock. This is a terrible thing.

"Until we have definite word that it is Eleanor's husband, I feel that I shouldn't talk about it."

Divorce Discussed

Six months ago, Mrs. Jenemann said, Sgt. Thompson wrote Eleanor from England that he was in love with an English woman. "He told Eleanor he wanted a divorce so he could marry her," Mrs. Jenemann added.

Asked if Eleanor would give her husband a divorce, Mrs. Jenemann said they had consulted an attorney who had advised them not to discuss the case until the quads' father was "definitely" identified.

She added, however:

"We are Catholics and it is against our religion to divorce. But Eleanor is over twenty-one and she'll have to make her own decision."

Quads May Get $90 Monthly from U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The quadruplets born in Heanor, England, will be eligible for a dependency payment of $90 a month if their father is an American soldier and acknowledges them as his children.

A War department spokesman said the army allows payments for illegitimate children if the father acknowledges parentage.

The monthly payment for the first child is $30, with $20 for each additional child.

The Better for Pilots To See With

PATTERSON FIELD, O. (AP)—A new pilot's check-list equally visible in the darkness of a bomber's cockpit on night raids over Europe or by the bright Pacific sun, is being distributed by the air service command to AAF pilots all over the world.

The new check-list glows under the dim instrument-board lights because of a new ink perfected by the maintenance data section of the ASC.

Intended to eliminate the human error, the list contains a number of items to be checked by a pilot before starting his engines, during the warmup, before takeoff, during flight and before and after landing. The card is replacing similar cards, which, printed with regular ink, were virtually useless in the dark.

There are more than ten pounds of brass in each 90 mm. cartridge case.

Almost 17,000 fewer persons were killed in traffic accidents in 1943 than in 1941.

ANOTHER E. BECKLEY LADY IS GRATEFUL FOR RELIEF

Ninth St. Housewife Now Eats Hearty Meals Without Gas Acid Stomach, Bloating and Other Distress After World's Tonic Relieved Occasional Constipation

Mrs. Ethel Stover, living on Ninth St. at F St., a Beckley, W. Va., resident for 24 years, says:

"I think if I could have gotten real relief from my bad case of occasional constipation, I might have avoided much of my other suffering, but nothing I tried really seemed to be what I needed. My appetite failed me and my meals caused indigestion and a sick feeling. I couldn't find relief from the dizzy spells which bothered me so much. I heard a lot of praise for World's Tonic, but I really doubted if it would help me, but I decided to try it anyhow.

"To my surprise, this famous World's Tonic seemed to be exactly the medicine I had been looking for. It gave relief from my constipation and its resulting ailments in what seemed like no time at all. Now I'm eating and enjoying three hearty meals a day without indigestion, gas, sour stomach or bloating, I really enjoy my food and it seems to agree with me, too. I don't feel dizzy or see spots before my eyes, I am deeply indebeted to World's Tonic for the many happy months it has given me and I never miss a chance to urge others suffering like I did, to try it." (Note: Report of relief by delighted user of World's Tonic, to the extent that constipation may be a contributing cause.)

MRS. ETHEL STOVER

Skillful blending of roots and herbs enables World's Tonic to help relieve constipation. World's Tonic (Trade Name.) Not sold as a General tonic but as a splendid laxative and stomachic.

Prevent

Home Accidents

The easiest way to prevent home accidents is to have a little talk with the members of your family and warn them against tipping chairs when they are seated, running on slippery floors, carelessness in the bathtub, on ladders and on stairways. And be sure that your medicine cabinet is stocked with the emergency items needed for bruises, cuts, scratches, etc., before the doctor arrives.

5 Big Time Roxy N. Y. Vaudeville Acts!
Great Show Breaking Jump To Pittsburgh

Good News! A great, honest to goodness, big time vaudeville show, featuring talent that played every leading New York theatre—including the Roxy, Capitol, Paramount plays the Maryland theatre midnight only, Sun., March 5th. Although other cities are paying $2.00 to see this high class, big time vaudeville show, it will be presented here at a popular price of only 75c, including all taxes. This is made possible through the company giving only one performance here, breaking its jump into Pittsburgh. Box office opens at 11:30. Stage show at 12:00 followed by feature picture. Don't miss this opportunity to see a great big time show.

This great show, the All New Karston Show of 1944, really five shows in one, presents America's newest theatrical sensation, the amazing Arabella, in her own great muscial revue. Speaking of Arabella, Nick Kenny, of the New York Mirror wrote, "That Arabella who stole the show. Where has she been hiding?" Hear her play the music of Gene Krupa, Fats Waller, Ted Lewis, Little Jack Little, and all the others. Like hearing all your favorite musicians at one time. And the girls! The famous and glamorous "pin up girls", the pick from the follies and vanitys, who chose to contribute their beauty to the war effort. Their pictures are in thousands of barracks.

See them in person! They'll help your morale, too.

See the only act of its kind in the world, the famous follies comedian, Bert Nagle and Mariah, the human cats. The Detroit News wrote, "Bert Nagle and his cats started the crowd into full chested guffaws."

If you want to hear the music of Gene Krupa, Little Jack Little, and Judy Canova; see the pick of beauties from the follies, scandals, and vanitys; laugh at the nation's most amazing comedians; and thrill at the most amazing theatrical exhibitions on tour today. See the All New Karston Show of 1944, greatest touring vaudeville show in America today. A show that's been places.

Ginger Rogers Stars In "Tender Comrade"

Timely, convincing, charming and dramatic, "Tender Comrade" which opened yesterday at the Liberty theater, stars Ginger Rogers in the saga of a woman war worker, her problems, her gaiety, and her courage while her husband is in the American Expeditionary Force.

It is the story of Jo and Chris, likeable youngsters who grow up together in Los Angeles, get married and then find their plans for the future upset. When the war comes Chris has to don a uniform and go overseas. Jo resolutely gets herself a job in an aircraft factory and joins a group of three others who are in a similar situation, to carry on in one household.

The advent of Chris Jr. and Jo's dreams of the day when the boy's father will come back, combine to build the story to a poignant climax, inspiring in its example of womanly pluck and resignation.

As the indomitable Jo, Miss Rogers is supported by the popular newcomer, Robert Ryan, who turns in a memorable portrayal as Chris in this, his first romantic part. Ruth Hussey, Patricia Collinge and Kim Hunter as Ginger's companions, and Mady Christians as their housekeeper, all deliver sharply etched performances, as do Jane Darwell and Richard Martin.

Variety of Nations Represented in Film

"Song of Russia," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film starring Robert Taylor, now at the Maryland theater, can modestly boast one of the most interesting aggregations of talent brought to the screen in many a blue or silver moon.

In the first place, there are the two out-and-out, 100 per cent American leads. Taylor, playing one of the most exciting and unusual parts of his career, is seen as a young American symphony conductor visiting Russia in the days just before the attack by Germany, and caught in the pinions of war. Susan Peters, the skyrocketing young actress who was seen in "Random Harvest" and "Assignment in Brittany," appears as a talented young Russian pianist who marries the young American after a breathtaking courtship.

The director of "Song of Russia," the brilliant and loquacious Gregory Ratoff, war born in Petrograd. Joseph Pasternak, the producer responsible for the long string of Deanna Durbin hits, is Hungarian by birth.

SEEING DOUBLE

CARBON COPIES. Baffled by Twin Nurses Rose Mary (left) and Dorothy June Paris, Pvt. Louis Harrison appears on the verge of a relapse—but doesn't really care.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—New patients at the Fourth Ferrying Group hospital sometimes take a look at two of the nurses and dash to a doctor.

Wide-eyed, they stammer: "Gimme something to settle my nerves, will yuh, Doc? So help me, I'm seeing double."

They aren't. They're just looking at identical twins.

The pretty nurses are Second Lieutenants Rose Mary and Dorothy June Paris, 22, of Dermott, Ark.

Surgeons didn't know which one was assisting in the operating room until they noticed Rose Mary handed them surgical instruments with her left hand and Dorothy June with her right.

18,000,000 Bushels Of Potatoes To Be Made into Alcohol

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The government is completing arrangements to convert upward of 18,000,000 bushels of lower grade white potatoes into industrial alcohol for war purposes, to prevent possible waste and a drop in growers' prices.

The potatoes will be dehydrated at idle mid-western sugar beet plants and then shipped to alcohol plants for processing. Industrial alcohol is needed in greatly expanding quantities for manufacture of munitions and other war materials.

The War Food Administration said the decision to use the potatoes for alcohol was made because last year's bumper crop had provided more than could possibly be consumed before this year's spring and early summer crop reach the market. The government had promised growers a market for the giant 1943 crop.

Potatoes cannot readily be kept over from one season to another, and besides, officials explained, the abundance would make it difficult to hold spring prices at levels guaranteed by the WFA under a farm price support program.

"Boston Blackie" Opens at Garden

Tydings Asks Change In Farmer Draft

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Prompt revision of the selective service system of deferring farm labor in the draft was requested today by Senator Millard E. Tydings (D-Md).

The senator said he had written Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, that the present method failed to consider different types of farming in various sections of the country.

In Maryland, he asserted, much farm work is done manually and the method of deferment apparently based on production in large areas of the west would not work.

If some change is not made Maryland farming "might be demoralized," Tydings said.

Air Raid Shelters A Must in Brazil

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The city service of civilian defense has refused to issue habitation permits for any buildings which within a five block area, do not have suitable air raid shelters available for their inhabitants.

The rule, a national one in Brazil, was passed last June by the national director of civil defense ten months after Brazil entered the war.

One-Family Town All-Out for Bonds

CUNDIYO, N. M. (AP)—Cundiyo, a village of twenty-one families all named Vigil, has received a commendation from the Treasury department for distinguished service. Each family bought a war bond in the third campaign and again in the fourth.

In the fourth drive, thirty-two bonds totaling $1,475 were purchased. The sum represents about one-third of the twenty-one families' income for the year.

Raises Ante For War Bonds

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—An employe in a war plant was irked when he signed up for a war bond and discovered the worker next to him contributing only one dollar. He decided to gain revenge.

When the plant committee came around once more, the irate bond buyer told them, "I'll buy as much as this man does."

"Put me down for $300," said the second man casually.

Dead Crows Flew Miles

RAGO, Kas. (AP) — A dynamite blast, set off in a rookery south of Rago, Kas., recently killed more than 125,000 crows. State game officials set the blast and found dead crows miles from the grove where the crows nested. Crows are killed because farmers complain they eat grain and destroy the nests of other birds.

LaSalle and Allegany Will Clash Tonight Before Capacity Crowd

Explorers, Angling for Their Second Straight City Title, Seek Sweep of Series

The high spot of Cumberland's 1943-44 scholastic basketball season will be reached tonight when the LaSalle High Explorers, angling for their second straight city championship, meet the challenging Allegany High Campers at 8 o'clock on the Campobello floor.

A capacity crowd jammed the SS. Peter and Paul school gym for the first meeting of the local rivals and another throng is expected to fill the Allegany gym to the rafters for the return engagement. With interest in tonight's tussle at a high pitch, it is probable that fans who don't have reserved seats and who arrive just before game time will be turned away as the "S. R. O." sign is expected to be removed even before the preliminary game is concluded.

Each club will be placing a great season record on the line. LaSalle, which turned back the Alleganians 35-26 earlier in the campaign, has won all but three of its twenty-seven engagements while the West Siders have bowed only to LaSalle and the Keyser (W. Va.) high quint in twenty-two outings.

LaSalle Offense Is Strong

The Explorers were turned back 21-20 by Central High's Flying Tigers of Lonaconing, 47-44 by Altoona Catholic and 36-32 by Rowlesburg (W. Va.) high. However, in return meetings, LaSalle blasted Central 74-19 and squared accounts with Altoona Catholic, 33-27. No second game with Rowlesburg was played.

Allegany, in winning the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship with a record of ten straight victories, topped Central twice, 33-26 and 45-31, and in its only meeting with Rowlesburg, stopped the Marauders 36-23. The West Siders have marked up seven straight victories since suffering their defeats in successive contests.

LaSalle, with Tommy Geatz and Ray Shaffer leading the scoring parade, has amassed a total of 1,308 points, an average of 48.4 per game, while yielding 680, an average of 25.5. Geatz is the city's top point-getter with 317.

Allegany, with Jim Macfarlane and Bob Spangler bearing the brunt of the scoring, has registered 814 tallies, an average of thirty-seven per clash, while giving up 562, an average of twenty-five.

Explorers Seek City Crown

Coach "Bill" Bowers's Alleganians will line up with Co-Captain Macfarlane and Lou Baker at the forwards, Co-Captain Spangler at center and Johnny Cox and Jim Pradiska at the guards. Bill Keegan, LaSalle mentor, usually announces the Explorer starters just before game time. He will probably select the Blue and Gold quint from Tommy Geatz, Shaffer, Ed Gunning, Joe Carter, Norman Geatz, Clay "Red" Ingram, Jim Fahey and Charley Steiner.

LaSalle can capture the city diadem by winning tonight's scrap. A victory for Allegany would deadlock the two teams in the final city series standing and necessitate a playoff encounter. Both the Explorers and Campers hold two triumphs over Fort Hill's Sentinels, the other team in the three-cornered series.

Handling the game will be two officials—Cliff Fearer and "Bobby" Cavanaugh. In the preliminary engagement at 7 o'clock, reserve teams representing the two schools will collide in a return contest.

American University Upsets Gallaudet

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP) — Fourth-seeded Gallaudet, defending champion in the Mason-Dixon Conference tournament, was eliminated in a first round upset tonight by American university 39-20.

The American cagers, who had split the regular season games with Gallaudet, went into a lead soon after the start and were never headed. The half time score was 17 to 8.

Henry Latimer and Johnny Posten, starting forwards for American, which placed sixth in regular loop play, paced the scoring with 12 and 10 points respectively. Latimer's long shots featured the second half.

Dick Posten, other half of the American U. brother act, accounted for nine tallies.

Galludet failed in its bid to annex a second straight conference crown mainly because of poor shooting.

Galludet went scoreless for the first 15 minutes of the second half.

Maryland Boxers Will Close Season Saturday

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 2 (AP) — The University of Maryland boxing team will close its season Saturday night when it entertains a strong Coast Guard team from New London, Conn.

Old Line Coach Fausto Rubini will offer two 165-pound matches because the coast guard team does not have a 127-pound contestant. The Maryland team dropped a close 4½ to 3½ match to Wisconsin's Badgers last Saturday.

The semi-finals of the army specialized training boxing championships will be held preceding the varsity boxing. Winners of th nine bouts will enter the finals March 11.

Newsom Sees Mack but Doesn't Sign Contract

Says He Will Play in Philadelphia If He Can Get in Shape

PHILADELPHIA, March 2 (AP)—The Bobo Newsoms dropped in on Connie Mack today but left without any assurance where the rent money is coming from.

In other words, Bobo, traded to the Athletics by the Washington Senators in exchange for Roger Wolff, didn't sign a contract.

"All he did was talk baseball," sighed the 81-year-old manager, who gave up his throne-like chair to Bobo while the latter interviewed himself for the press. "I couldn't get a word in edgewise."

Bobo, a trim 206 and the picture of health, explained he didn't want to make up his mind "until I see if I can get in shape."

Both of them assured newspapermen that salary didn't even figure in their discussions.

"If I play at all it will be for Mr. Mack," said the much-traded righthander, who almost pitched Detroit to a world championship in 1940. "I'm sure I'll—I mean, I'm sure I'd like it here. If everybody who booed me turned out to cheer me, we'd fill the stands every day."

Thirty-five-years old and 4-F in the draft ("busted my leg when a mule ran over me down in South Carolina") Newsom said there was some chance he might go into business. He didn't say what business but mentioned he'd been "foolin' around" with automobiles.

His attractive wife, the former Ruth Griffiths of McKeesport, Pa., said today's visit was part of the Newsom honeymoon. They were married at 11:59 p. m. last New Year's eve—"Ruth said she wouldn't be a leap year bride," Bobo chuckled.

Newsom, who figured prominently in the Brooklyn Dodger "revolt" against Leo Durocher last season and put in some time with the St. Louis Browns before going to Washington, said he'd know "in a few days" what his plans were.

"Well," sighed Connie Mack, "I guess we'll just have to wait until he makes up his mind."

Poorer Baseball, But the Prices Are Going Up

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Just when you were wondering a little how the Major Leagues were going to palm off Kankakee baseball at Yankee Stadium prices you learn the prices aren't going to be the same this year as last after all. They're going to be higher.

Neither the jacked-up prices nor the faded quality of play is the fault of the clubs. Both are due to circumstances beyond their control, with the manpower situation responsible for amateur-night performances and the new ten per cent government tax causing the admission hike.

Basic Prices Same

Actually the basic admission prices remain the same, with the added tax bringing the increase, but try to explain that to your pocketbook, as two bucks going out is two bucks going out, no matter what for. If attendance did show signs of dropping because of the price increase, the clubs could cut their basic price so that the added tax would bring the figure only to the 1943 level, and they're welcome to the idea.

Just how the interior play will affect attendance is problematical. Lots of the games will be played at night, the Senators alone having forty-six such contests, but the fact remains a team can look just as bad at night as it does in the day time, particularly if the lights are on.

If the competition is keen enough the real baseball fans probably will go to the games anyway, the same as the fight fans continue to jam Madison Square Garden to see shows with main eventers of the 10-20-30 class.

Also, the real fans probably won't debate with themselves on whether to spend that extra dough which the tax makes it necessary for them to spend, as a guy making up his mind to go to a ball game isn't going to let the price of a couple of hot dogs stand in his way.

Phils Lead Way

Neither can the clubs be blamed for holding their basic price to the same level regardless of the caliber of play, as there is no law against getting as much as they can out of the fans, and if a club can get carriage-trade prices from baseball-hungry fans regardless of the performance it certainly is entitled to do so.

If attendance dropped to a point where the clubs had to use their scouts to round up likely fans instead of players the admission prices naturally would be slashed, but until then the fans will be asked to pay for silk while getting cheesecloth.

The Phils were the first club to announce an increase in the price of admission, illustrating the change in the club's fortunes. It wasn't so long ago they had to Shanghai fans to get them to the Phil games. Now they can get the fans, but might have to Shanghai the players.

BEAU, BOB GET OKAY FOR BOUT

Beau Jack-Montgomery Argument

There are two sides to every question, the same as a plank. When Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery meet at Madison Square Garden on Friday night in their third meeting to settle the parking space for the lightweight title, the main argument will sping to Montgomery.

1. Will his 63 seconds Bummy Davis knockout lower his old confidence?

2. Or will he be more than anxious to prove the Davis rap was a fluke by going all out to win?

There isn't much argument from Beau Jack's side. He gives you the best he has to offer, however much he may lack in technique, form or style. Two busy fists, wild or not, cover up a multitude of minor sins so far as the crowd is concerned.

I don't believe Bummy Davis smashing left hook proved that Davis is a great fighter—or that Montgomery is that bad. One swallow doesn't make a summer—or a drunk. It only proves that Davis can out-punch any one now around near his own weight, which almost every one knew.

Montgomery was never a star lightweight. Just a fair lightweight, who usually knew his way around. Outside of the Davis explosion he has never been brilliant, nor bad.

With over 4,000 boxers in war service, the ring has been the soft spot for those left behind. No one had to be a Gans, Leonard, Tony Canzoneri, Joe Louis or Billy Conn to clear the road. Those still able to show their wares had the softest touch any set of fighters ever faced.

A Home Town Complaint

A rather stringent complaint has come in from Augusta, Ga., Beau Jack's home town, that Jack is being exploited and overworked. I might add that this complaint is 100 percent from the white side, in reply to any charges of race prejudice.

They like Beau Jack in Augusta, whites and blacks, and the whites especially are a trifle sore over his coming schedule—

Montgomery, March 3.

Al Bummy Davis, March 10.

Sammy Angott, March 31, in case he gets by Montgomery.

Part of this complaint was thrown at your correspondent who hasn't any more to do with Beau Jack's arrangements than Chick Wergeles has to do with Lawrence Tibbett or John Charles Thomas.

Beau Jack came up from the Battle Royal class to become lightweight champion of the world. He came along at a rapid pace because he was willing to wade in and use the leather, to the best of his ability.

Every ring fighter today—and we'll include Mike Jacobs—has been soaked in luck through the money taken in with the lack of quality left to offer. It so happens that Beau Jack is headed for army service in April. I happen to know that his supporters tried to get him in the army several months ago—and that Jack was more than willing.

This is the draft board problem, involving no one else. Under these conditions I can't see that the present lightweight holder has been badly treated. I know that he doesn't think so.

The Montgomery match, best two out of three, was a natural. It would be no disgrace to be knocked out by Davis, strong welterweight. And how can any fighter be disgraced for a $30,000 cut?

If he can beat Montgomery, it is true that he will face three tough starts in less than a month. But what a soft touch that will be against what can happen in any army career, compared to what is happening in Italy and the South Pacific, to what can happen in a European invasion.

What Will Happen

In thirty previous rounds Beau Jack and Montgomery have rated close to a toss-up. Montgomery won the first test going away. Beau Jack won the second meeting by the same margin.

I believe Jack is good enough to win the play-off, where his main obstacle might be a desperate Montgomery trying to wipe out that Davis fiasco. It is certainly no sure thing, if you look at "the past performance" chart.

If the Augusta entry is a real champion he should get by Montgomery and Angott, who are no flaming meteors in the pugilistic heavens.

The Davis interlude is something else again. Beau Jack is at his best around 133 pounds. Davis is at his best around 144 pounds. This is quite a chunk of adverse weight. Davis is much the harder punched, but I don't believe Bummy will catch Jack half asleep as he caught Montgomery. In any event it looks as if quite a time might be had before March rolls into April.—(Released by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Experts Predict Beau Jack Will Beat Montgomery

Fighters Will Meet for Third Time in New York Tonight

By FRITZ HOWELL

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Along Jacobs' Beach today the curbstone experts installed Sidney (Beau Jack) Walker a 1 to 2 favorite over Bob Montgomery for tomorrow night's world lightweight championship (New York version) fight in Madison Square Garden.

Beau, ex-bootblack from Augusta, Ga., probably would be happier if he were less favored, for the underdog has taken each of the previous meetings between this pair of punchers.

Last May, Jack was a 5-to-12 choice, but Montgomery soundly drubbed him and took his title. In November, with Montgomery favored by 5 to 12, the Beau won going away to regain his lost laurels.

The dusky duo wound up workouts for the fray today, Beau Jack taking only light exercises while Montgomery worked hard. Beau was a pound under the 135-pound lightweight limit after the session, and said he expected to weigh in tomorrow at 133. Montgomery, despite his speedy and strenuous workout, weighed 136¾, but said he would be around 134½ tomorrow "after drying out and skipping breakfast."

A gate of better than $90,000 was in the bag, Promoter Mike Jacobs said, boosting the total for the three Montgomery-Jack engagements far over the quarter-million mark.

Tomorrow's tussle will decide the opponent for Sammy Angott, N.B.A. lightweight king, in a March 31 scrap in the Garden to clear up the muddled title situation. The winner gets the shot at Angott, provided Angott gets by Juan Zurita in Hollywood Monday night.

Angott is a 1-to-3½ choice over Zurita. The NBA champ has outpointed Montgomery in three over-the-weight fights, and fought a draw with Beau Jack in the same kind of scrap.

Just two weeks ago Montgomery was knocked out for the first time in his career, welterweight Al Davis doing it in sixty-three seconds with a pair of left hooks but Montgomery said today that such things could happen to anyone and that he was confident he could take Beau Jack handily.

The boys along the beach believe he's mistaken.

Blas Monaco Is Classified 4-F

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—General Manager Tommy Thomas of the Baltimore Orioles said today that his second base problem had been solved by reclassification of Second Baseman Blas Monaco to 4-F by the San Antonio, Tex., Draft board.

Sammy Bell, veteran second baseman from Charlotte, N. C., had informed Thomas recently that he was quitting baseball.

The International League club manager said three players had sent in signed contracts: Outfielder Howard (Red) Moss, received from the New York Giants in a trade for Joe Becker; Pitcher Burton (Lefty) Swift and Catcher Sherman Lollar. They were the first to sign of the twenty-two players who were sent contracts in mid-February. Eleven others already had signed

Bob (Buck) Frierson was removed from Thomas' list of prospects, following word from Frierson that he planned to stay on his Texas farm.

Thomas said he expected to bring the pitchers, catchers and a few others to Baltimore March 15 or 16 for early work. The other regulars are due March 20.

Eight Teams Invited To Play in Tourney

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—The eight-team bracket for the National Invitation Basketball Tournament at Madison Square Garden, March 16-20-22 and 26, was completed today with the addition of Bowling Green and Canisius.

Bowling Green, built around six-foot, eleven-inch Sid Owen, won twenty-two and lost three during the regular season, bowing twice to Great Lakes and once to Denison. The Canisius five dropped four of its nineteen contests and has one game remaining with Cornell Saturday.

Other teams which already have accepted invitations are Oklahoma Aggies, Utah, Kentucky, DePaul of Chicago, Muhlenburg and St. John's of New York. The draw for the first round of play will be made Monday.

Parsons, Franklin And Davis Win Tourney Games

Semi-finals Will Be Played Tonight; Thomas Meets Franklin

PARSONS, W. Va., March 2 (SPECIAL TO THE NEWS)—Parsons, Franklin and Davis advanced to the semi-finals in Section 14's basketball tournament which opened here tonight with a crowd of approximately 500 fans present.

The semi-finals will be played tomorrow night with Thomas, which drew a bye in the first round, playing Franklin and Davis and Parsons meeting in the final game with the winner entering the finals against the Thomas-Franklin winner.

Parsons took a 12 to 8 lead in the first quarter and coasted to an easy victory over Circleville, being out in front 26 to 15 at the end of the half and holding a 39 to 24 advantage at the close of the third period.

Kee with twelve, and Delaney and Evick with nine points each led the scoring for Parsons while Bland with 11 and H. Bennett with 10 were outstanding for Circleville.

In the opening game Franklin easily defeated Moorefield 44 to 26, with the first half being rather close, but the winners staged a third quarter rally after holding only a 19-15 lead at the half to win by eighteen points. Franklin held a 9 to 8 lead at the end of the first quarter and the only time Moorefield was on even terms was early in the second quarter when the score was tied at 11-11.

The best game of the evening was the second on the schedule in which Davis won the game in the last two minutes of the final period by making three goals in rapid succession. The score was tied six times at 2-2, 14-14, 16-16, 18-18 and 32-32.

Vance, Moorefield forward, was the outstanding player in the Davis-Moorefield game, scoring six field goals and five out of nine fouls for a total of seventeen points. Keller, his teammate who played center, was second high with eleven points, while Winters and Burkoski with seven head and Heltzel with six led the attack for Davis.

Four War Loan Drive Far Over Top

NEW YORK, March 2. (AP)—Secretary Morganthau said tonight the American people answered the treasury's Fourth War Loan call with $16,730,000,000 — $2,730,000,000 above the goal set for the month-long campaign that ended Feb. 15.

Of the total, the treasury head said in a broadcast over the blue network, $3,187,000,000 represented purchases of "E" bonds, the so-called "little money" phase of the drive that placed emphasis upon participation by individuals rather than banks and corporations.

Each one of the 60,000,000 individual "E" bonds sold, Morgenthau said, "stands as an expression of the will and the way of freedom."

Temple Selected

PHILADELPHIA, March 2. (AP)—Temple university accepted today an invitation to compete in the Eastern eliminations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament at Madison Square Garden on March 24-25.

Temple's choice means that undefeated Army will not compete. Both are in District two. Dartmouth, Eastern Intercollegiate champions, will represent District one; Ohio State, Big Ten leader, District four, and Duke, Southern Conference winner probably will be chosen in District three.

The Eastern winner will meet the Western survivor for the NCAA crown in New York on March 28.

Marriage Seeks Clean Sweep

MIAMI, Fla., March 2 (AP)—At an age when most race horses are allowed to cavort in green pastures or are running in cheap claiming events, an eight-year-old gelding is threatening to prance off with the two richest purses of the winter.

Coward and Dupuy's Marriage won the New Orleans handicap Feb. 19, and immediately was shipped here to try to top off the performance Saturday with a victory in Hialeah Park's Widener Handicap—only other race of the season with a $25,000 added value.

Around the Coward barn they call the reddish gelding a "running fool," and it's apparent that his handlers think he has a good chance of kicking dust on the favored Sun Again, Bolingbroke, Four-Freedoms, Alquest, Eurasian and the other Widener horses—some of which were born after Marriage already was winning races.

C. J. Lemons spoke for the handlers, while Marriage nipped playfully at his ears.

"He's a rough horse," Lemons said proudly, 'but he really likes to run. A horse has to be born to run — you can't train 'em to do what he's done. Yes. We think he's got a 'slight chance' Saturday."

"What he's done," consists of taking $59,600 in 1942 and $86,875 in 1943. Marriage already has added $22,680 to the Stable's bank account this year with two triumphs in five starts.

Marriage came along slowly and was claimed by Hirsch Jacobs for $1,400 in one of his early starts. The gelding improved somewhat and was running with a $5,000 claiming tag when he was claimed by Coward and Dupuy.

With careful handling, Rand Coward developed him into a stakes performer.

Kate Smith Radio Show Books Two From the Movies

Lightweight Bout Will Be Reported by Corum and Dunphy

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 2. (AP)—Kate Smith, continuing her Friday night schedule from Hollywood for CBS at 8, has picked a couple more folks from the movies to help her out as guests. They will be Fred MacMurray and "Starlet" Diana Lynn, he to do a brevity version of "Standing Room Only," and she to play the piano which she also does in addition to acting. Kate has two more broadcasts from the coast before returning to her regular site of New York.

There's another prize fight on the MBS schedule at 10. It is described as the "New York version" of a lightweight championship bout in which Beau Jack will be pitted against Challenger Bob Montgomery. The details come from Don Dunphy and Bill Corum, now more than well established as a fight broadcasting team.

When Friday on Broadway goes out via CBS at 7:30 the voices of Kay Penton, Fred Waldner, Brad Reynolds, Betty, Jane and Jeanette, the Herald Square trio and the Broadway sextet all are heard as singers as Jacques Renard directs the thirty-piece orchestra.

With H. V. Kaltenborn on another trip, this one into the Latin-American area, Robert St. John again is taking over his five-a week NBC commentary at 7:45 for the next days, or until HVK gets back . . . Senators Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and Elbert D. Thomas, of Utah, as well as Dr. H. E. Kershner are to join in an NBC discussion at 10:45 of the question of feeding children in occupied Europe... CBS will have another talk on income tax returns at 6:30 by Paul D. Segners, consultant on such questions.

Father-To-Be Takes Baby Seriously

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA (AP)—Army psychiatrists in the field are proud of their record with psychoneurotics. At one hospital, 62 per cent of the afflicted have been pronounced cured and returned to front line duty. In most cases, the cure required only a few days.

But one case was different. A soldier, whose wife in the states was expecting a baby, walked into the hospital and announced he was going to have a baby. He went to bed and promptly went through some of the pregnancy symptoms, including morning sickness. He's been there more than a week now. Doctors call it a true case of couvade or neurosis simulating pregnancy.

Twin Twins In the Services

MOUNT UNION (AP)—Two sets of Iowa twins with identical first and last names are serving with the armed forces.

Richard and Robert, 18, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. McKim of Nevada, Ia., are in the navy and Richard and Robert, 19, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Milo McKim of Mount Union, are with the army.

The two sets are not related, but the parents, learning of the coincidence, have visited together twice.

More automobile accidents occur in Paris than in any other city in the world.

On Again, Off Again

ASBURY PARK, N. J. (AP) — The marquee of the Savoy theater read "The Heat's On" starring Mae West. The marquee was in darkness, however, and the theater was closed.

The reason. No heat.

High Cost of Drama

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The cast of "Out of the Frying Pan", a farce-comedy given at the University of California, needed catsup to pinch-hit as blood in a murder mystery scene. Catsup takes ration points. Considerable soliciting was necessary before the points were assembled and the play could go on.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear wife and our mother, Lucy M. (Garlitz) Myers, who passed away one year ago today, March 3, 1943.

Some may think we are not lonely
When times they see us smile,
But little do they know the heartaches
That we suffer all the while.

Our family circle is broken
The Voice we love is still,
Your place is vacant in our hearts
No one can ever fill.

Flowers we place upon your grave
Will wither and decay,
But love for you who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.

Sadly missed by her

Specialties Continue To Lead Trading in the Stock Market

By BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Buyers again leaned toward specialties in today's stock market while more or less neglecting the general run of leaders.

As in recent sessions, dividends and annual stock statements provided the principal reason for the return of modest amounts of investment capital.

A number of rails, up at the start, slipped toward the last but liquors, amusements and other assorted favorites closed with gains of fractions to a point or so, a number at peaks for the year or longer. Transfers totalled 705,850 shares compared with 632,590 Wednesday.

In the "new high" class were Western Union "A" and "B", Delaware & Hudson, Engineers Public Service, Interlake Iron, General Outdoor Advertising "A" and common, Foster Wheeler and Brewing Corp. In front were Schenley, Distillers Corp., American Distilling, Loew's Paramount, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Atlantic Coast Line and Union Pacific.

Steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders, aircrafts and coppers were narrow throughout although the majority managed to finish with moderate plus marks.

Losers were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Aviation Corp., Public Service of N. J., Dow Chemical, Glenn Martin and Cerro De Pasco.

In the Curb Cities Service common and preferred were lively on the upside most of the day on word further steps in integration would be approved by the S. E. C. but late realizing brought a final reaction in the more active issues. Among gainers were Electric Bond & Share, Humble Oil, International Petroleum, Pantepec and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Turnover here was 245,340 shares versus 299,665 yesterday.

Railroad bonds supplied the main driving power in today's bond market, some rising fractions to around 2 points as the larger corporate list lingered in a narrow range without the benefit of a definite trend.

Not all rails participated in the forward movement, but the advancing contingent was sufficiently broad to cause a rise of 4 of a point the Associated Press averages to 86.0, equalling the high since 1937. Sales of $11,684,600 compared with $11,043,500 on Wednesday.

Exley Promoted To B. & O. Eastern Region Position

E. J. Clopton, of Akron, Will Become New Local Division Engineer

Promotion of Howard L. Exley, of 742 Fayette street, division engineer of the Cumberland division, Baltimore and Ohio railroad, for the past seven years, to the position of engineer of maintenance of way, Eastern region, with headquarters in Baltimore, was announced yesterday by Harry F. Wyatt, superintendent of the local division.

Exley succeeds C. B. Harveson, who has been promoted to chief engineer, maintenance of way, Baltimore and Ohio railroad system. Harveson replaces Philip Petri, who at one time was division engineer at Cumberland, and was placed on the retired list as of March 1.

Clopton Will Come Here

Succeeding Exley as division engineer here is E. J. Clopton, former division engineer for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Akron, Ohio, who is expected to arrive today to take over his new duties. Clopton formerly was division engineer at Baltimore under Watt.

Starting his career with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in 1915, Exley has rounded out approximately twenty-seven years' service with the same company. With the exception of the First World war when he served in France with the army engineers, Exley has worked continuously for the B. & O.

In 1915 he was employed with the carpenter gang at Wheeling and later joined the engineering corps. He went to Hancock in 1916 as assistant track supervisor and moved from there to Baltimore. After serving overseas he returned to Baltimore and remained there until 1920. The following year he was transferred to Wilmington, Del., and in 1924 became assistant division engineer at Baltimore. Three years later he was promoted to assistant engineer in the general office where he remained until 1936 when the next move was to Grafton, W. Va., as division engineer. Since 1937 Exley has been division engineer here.

Will Leave Tomorrow

While all of the changes became effective on March 1, Exley will not leave for his new position in Baltimore until tomorrow. His wife and two daughters, Charlotte and Mary E. Exley, will join him later. Exley is a native of Wheeling, W. Va.

Morgan Advocates Adequate Wiring For Future Homes

Film, "The American Home" Is Shown at Savings Club Meeting

Wiring must be adequate not only now but for the future, Lee W. Morgan, Hagerstown representative of the National Adequate wiring Bureau, told the 100-odd members of the Home Ownership Savings club, at the third meeting of the organization held last evening in the city hall.

A native of Frostburg, the wiring expert listed the musts of an adequate wiring system as satisfactory service entrance, sufficient branch circuits, a number of spare circuits in the panel and plenty of switches and outlets.

Cost Is Small

Morgan told the prospective home owners that the cost of adequate wiring is exceedingly small.

The cost of heavier wire is negligible, yet will assure satisfactory performance of electrical appliances, he asserted. Since heavier wire will insure against voltage drop, its higher initial cost will soon be met in increased efficiency.

Registers on Meter

Whether you heat the wire or the appliance, the electricity used will be registered on the meter, he added.

Advocating plenty of outlets, the wiring expert declared that it is better to have too many than too few convenient outlets. Twin or triple outlets, he said, will prove better than single ones.

The club, organized six months ago, plans to build homes valued at $500,000 at the close of the war.

Man Struck by Auto Is in Satisfactory Condition in Hospital

Struck by an automobile late Sunday night as he was walking home from work at the Celanese plant, Daniel Faulkner, Cresaptown, was reported to be in a satisfactory condition last night in Allegany hospital.

Faulkner was walking on McMullen highway when he was struck by the machine state police said was driven by Samuel Emerick, Hyndman, Pa., also a Celanese employe. The left fender of the car struck Faulkner hurling him backwards against the windshield.

After the accident Faulkner was taken to Allegany hospital in an unconscious condition but since has regained his senses and is awaiting x-rays to determine the extent of his injuries.

State Trooper Milton G. Hart investigated. Charges against Emerick are pending Faulkner's release from the hospital.

Garrett County Exceeds Fourth War Loan Drive Quota by 97 Per Cent

Allegany County Sales Total $3,878,439, 62 Per Cent above Quota; Region No. 1 Purchases $11,980,570 in 11 Months

Garrett county exceeded its quota by ninety-seven per cent and Allegany county topped its quota by sixty-two percent in total purchases during the Fourth War Loan drive, which was concluded Tuesday, according to a tabulated report last evening by the War Finance Committee of Region 1, State of Maryland.

According to the final figures released by the Federal Reserve Bank, of Richmond, Va., Garrett county sales amounted to $295,474 as against a quota of $150,000, which is regarded as one of the finest showings made by any county in the state. Howard C. Riggs headed the Garrett county drive.

Exceeded by $1,478,439

Allegany county's quota was $2,400,000 and the final checkup showed purchases totaling $3,878,439.50 or $1,478,439.50 above the goal fixed at the start of the campaign in February 18.

The Mercantile committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce sold $482,000 worth of bonds during the campaign against a quota of $450,000. Mark Lazarus was chairman of the committee and Bradley S. Kehoe handled the bond drive.

Porter D. Collins, chairman of publicity for the War Finance Committee, in commenting upon the report, said that "we are grateful for the invaluable help given us in the Fourth War Loan Drive by the local newspapers which devoted a large amount of editorial and advertising space, to radio station WTBO which contributed radio time for special broadcasting spot announcements and other bond programs, to the merchants of the city, to the Boy Scout organization, and to a large number of public-spirited citizens who contributed so splendidly in this campaign."

Many Did Not Participate

Charles A. Piper, regional chairman for Allegany and Garrett counties, stated that while the total amount of sales was very gratifying, and even though sales of series "E" bonds exceeded the previous drives by substantial amounts, yet the fact remains that there were a large number of people in Allegany county who did not participate in the Fourth War Loan Drive.

Collins said that even though the Fourth War Loan campaign has officially ended, "we are still in this war and we must daily contribute to buy as many series "E" bonds as possible. When our boys finish a battle, they do not sit down and rest on their oars and we people in Allegany county should follow their example."

Tops Eleven Million Mark

War bond purchases in the three drives conducted in Allegany and Garrett counties in the past eleven months, starting with April, 1943, total $11,080,570.25, of which $10,386,195.25 is credited to Allegany and $694,375 to Garrett.

Community Chest Fiscal Year Will End on March 31

Agencies Are Assured of Receiving Full Allotments, Smith Says

The fiscal year of the Cumberland Community Chest will end March 31 and Harold W. Smith, president, announced yesterday that all of the member agencies are assured of receiving their full allotments for the period.

Smith's announcement followed a meeting of the executive committee of the chest held at 4 p. m. yesterday, and he added that the balance of funds on hand at the present time is within a few hundred dollars of being able to take care of the agencies for March.

Additional chest funds now outstanding will be received in plenty of time to make the agency allotments promptly, he said.

Unpaid pledges for 1943 amount to $4,235.44, according to the financial report submitted at the meeting yesterday by Clarence Lippel, treasurer.

Total cash on hand is $4,085.72 while the monthly budget is $4,281.11.

Eileen Farrell Presents Varied Songs at Recital

Irish Soprano Demonstrates Unusual Ability before Concert Group

In a recital full of warmth and color, held last evening in Fort Hill auditorium under the auspices of the Cumberland Concert Association, Eileen Farrell, youthful soprano, demonstrated qualities which soon should make her one of the Metropolitan Opera Company's most popular sopranos.

Equally good in high and low notes, the Irish singer possesses a voice with a wide range which proved full and rich in spite of a slight cold which was troubling her upon her arrival in this city Wednesday evening.

Sings Brahms Group

Her program opened with an aria from "Alceste" by Gluck, which was followed by a group of songs by Brahms. Her third group, composed of two Russian and two French numbers, was followed by her popular "Morning," by Oley Speaks.

"Deep River," arranged by Henry L. Burleigh, famous American negro composer and arranger, led the fourth group of songs. "Bag of Whistles," Crist, and a Scotch melody, "Turn Ye to Me," was followed by "Ecstasy," by Rummel.

The Irish song, "My Love's an Arbutus," was Miss Farrell's encore for the group.

Verdi's "Peace, Peace, Mio Dio," an aria from "La Forza Del Destino" closed the recital.

Gershwin Selection Popular

Farrell's first encore, a song from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," proved most popular with the audience.

The encores, "Let My Song Still Your Heart," "Annie Laurie" and "The Year's at the Spring" concluded the encores demanded by the large and enthusiastic audience.

Frederick Bristol accompanied Miss Farrell at the piano.

Walsh Outlines Soldier Ballot Bill To Council

Meeting Will Be Held Today To Discuss Possible Changes

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—The administration's soldier vote bill, designed in the words of Attorney General William C. Walsh "to provide the widest possibility for voting by persons in the services," was outlined today to the legislative council.

The council generally favored the measure, which would apply only to the November election and to any special congressional elections, and agreed to meet again tomorrow afternoon to discuss further any possible changes.

Council members and Walsh agreed that it would be desirable to have the bill drafted in a form satisfactory to the council and to have it printed in advance of the convention of the special session of the assembly at 8 o'clock Monday night.

Walsh said it might also be wise to introduce the bill in both houses and to conduct hearings simultaneously in an effort to expedite the bill through the assembly.

The attorney general said he had also hoped to present a teacher bonus bill to the council, but he had not yet been provided by the administration with all the information necessary to the drafting of the proposal.

The soldier vote bill, as outlined to the council, would provide for voting by men and women of the armed services, the merchant marine if serving outside the United States and its inland waters, and civilians serving with the armed forces who are employed by the Red Cross, Society of Friends, WASPS, USO, or who are employed on federal construction projects.

The ballot would be strictly a state affair, but the bill provides for the use of the proposed short-form federal ballot by soldiers who do not receive the state ballot.

It also provides for the suspension of the declaration of intentions act, insofar as it affects absentee voters. Walsh said he did not believe this feature would invalidate the entire act since voting provisions are not now strictly uniform, there being provision for mail balloting.

Absentee voters would be required to apply for ballots, either on state or federal application blanks or by card or letter.

Ballots would be sent to all who applied, whether registered or not, and those who were not registered would be placed on the rolls when they returned their ballots with other information indicating they were qualified to vote.

The bill covers referenda on amendments to the constitution and other smillar voting.

Persons not already registered would be required to file an oath stating name, birth date, that they were in the armed forces or were otherwise qualified, and that they had lived in the state for a total of one year and in one voting district for at least six months.

Ballots would have to be printed at least 100 days before the November election and mailed out by supervisors as applications were received. Ballots would be mailed to the secretary of state who would distribute them to elections boards.

In the event a soldier executed both a federal and a state ballot, the state ballot would be given preference and the federal one discarded. Where two state ballots were filed, the first would be counted.

Lack of Interest in City Affairs Is Deplored by Kiwanis Speakers

Home Rule Form of Government Is Advocated by Isaac Hirsch

Declaring that there is an almost total lack of interest by the average citizen in things pertaining to Cumberland, Clarence Lippel, chairman of the Public Affairs committee of the Kiwanis club, epened the discussion at a meeting yesterday on the subject "What Can We Do To Create and Stimulate More Interest in Municipal Affairs"?

Isaac Hirsch, the next speaker, gave an analysis on municipal government in Cumberland and Hagerstown quoting income and expenditures of several departments; gave the tax rate for the two cities, and asserted "it costs the City of Hagerstown less to do business than Cumberland, and Hagerstown gives its citizens more than we do".

Compares Tax Rate

Hirsch pointed out that Hagerstown operates a market which costs about $5,000 per year; has a museum of fine arts at an outlay of $5,000 per year, and an orphans home costing $2,000 annually with a tax rate of seventy cents per $100 as against $1.20 in Cumberland.

After deducting the profit made by a municipal-owned lighting plant Hirsch said Hagerstown had an annual income of $830,000 while Cumberland's income was more than one million dollars per year, and added that the difference in revenue in Cumberland comes from taxes.

In 1942 the expenditures of the two cities, Hirsch said, for some of the departments were as follows:

FIRE — Hagerstown, $53,000, Cumberland $68,000. POLICE — Hagerstown $69,000, Cumberland $93,000. SEWERS — Hagerstown, $34,000, Cumberland $47,000. STREETS — Hagerstown, $33,000, Cumberland $60,000. WATER—Hagerstown $85,000, Cumberland $95,000.

Under Hagerstown's charter, the mayor, (who is paid $3,600 a year) is largely responsible for management of the city, Hisch said, while in Cumberland the mayor is paid only $1,500 per year and is required to spend at least six hours per day at the city hall, which the speaker termed "ridiculous."

Criticizes Expenditures

Asserting that there is something wrong when a city takes in a million dollars and spends most of it, Hirsch said, "we simply spend too much and it could be curbed by proper management." He said he believes the present mayor and councilmen are honest men and were trying to the best of their ability to do a good job, adding that the fault lies largely in the form of government under which the administration operates.

Hirsch told the Kiwanians that for many years he had advocated a city manager plan of government, but that the legislature would not pass it. He said he favors "Home Rule" for Cumberland, declaring it is not right for the six members of the House of Delegates from Allegany county, (only one of whom is a resident of Cumberland) to make laws to govern the citizens of Cumberland.

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said the average citizen did not seem to be interested in municipal affairs and said he thought they should be educated along that line. Other speakers included Charles Helmrich, J. Thruston Boyd, and James W. Bishop.

Bishop Hughes Will Preach Here Sunday

C., will be the guest speaker at the Centre Street Methodist church at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, marking the local observation of the "Bishop's Crusade for a New World Order," which is being conducted in seventy-five of the larger cities of the United States.

Officers Installed By County Farm Bureau Group

The Allegany County Farm Bureau Planning Group of District installed officers at the meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Loar, Rawlings, with all members present.

M. S. Heiskell, Ellerslie, was installed as president; C. R. Armstrong, Rawlings, vice president; Mrs. Loar, Rawlings, secretary; Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie, discussion leader, and Mrs. C. R. Armstrong, Rawlings, recreation leader.

Heiskell explained the object of the group is two-fold. First to establish a better understanding of the business and administrative ends of farming, and second to bring about a closer neighbor social relationship.

The discussion leader presented the topic, "How To Bolster Membership in the Farm Bureau." He stressed the importance of building a stronger bureau to gain increasing influence in county state and national affairs; that Allegany county had the greatest percentage increase in membership in 1943 in the state, for which the award of a $25 war bond was received, and because farmers as a whole are becoming more and more conscious of the need for, and the power of organization.

A short talk was given by Harry J. Barton, county president, comparing two fertilizers.

Following the meeting a buffet lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. J. White and Mrs. Armstrong. The table was simply decorated with candelabra of red tapers.
